FORCE JAPS BACK 30 MILES

WAR HITTING HOME FRONT

(International News Service)

The war was brought via rationing closer to the home front today when a wide variety of curbs on the American public became effective.

First, there was a nation-wide speed limit of 35 miles an hour, designed to conserve gasoline and tires.

Next, the OPA froze all used tires and tubes as a necessary step in ultimate rationing.

A voluntary meat rationing, limiting each person to not more than two and a half pounds a week, also became effective.

Fuel oil rationing also began in 30 eastern and mid-western states and the District of Columbia and the OPA made preliminary plans to start rationing six types of men's rubber boots and work-shoes beginning Monday.

Lawrence County's scrap drive got a green light Wednesday night when the salvage committee of the Lawrence County Council of Defense held a meeting with Chairman Ross D. J. Lee McFate has been named Collection Chairman for New Castle with Floyd Lortz acting as secretary. While not all the committee were present, the following attended: Robert J. Tully, De Lace Cole, John J. Finnissey, Chester C. Sweesy, in addition to the officers mentioned.

Job For Everybody

There will be nothing exclusive about this scrap drive. There's a job for everybody and that means everybody. Men and women, young and old, school children, Boy Scouts, Junior Red Sross, Junior Commandos, there's a place for everybody and a place for all the scrap that can be collected.

"I'm afraid some of our people are not yet convinced of the stark necessity for scrap" said Robert J. Tully a steel man with years of experience. "The steel industry might be compared to a community or a

Too Many Forecasts Of What May Possibly Happen Says Congressman

CREATES CONFUSION THROUGHOUT NATION

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — Rep. Jerry Voorhis (D) Calif., today called on officials of the government "to declare a holiday on predictions," asserting that "they are only creating confusion in the public mind on everything from the rubber issue to the question of the draft."

Voorhis, a plain-talking New Dealer, said that he thought the "Hersheys, Hendersons, Ickles and everyone else in responsible posts" should maintain silence "until they have concrete action to take and then explain it fully to the country."

Too Many Contradictions

Reflecting what many members of Congress have been saying privately for weeks, Voorhis declared that "all Americans are prepared to do whatever is necessary to win this war, but they hear so many contradictory statements from Washington that nobody knows where they stand or what they can count on."

"And I don't think Congress is wholly blameless," Voorhis added. "I have no desire to criticize committees of Congress—investigations and hearings are necessary in a democracy—but I do think that too many government officials are being led into making predictions when testifying."

Voorhis suggested that when a Congressional committee seeks a prediction from a government official, his testimony should be "off the record."

U.S. Bombers Chop At Jap Tentacles Over Pacific

From Kiska in the Aleutian islands to the Solomons and from China to New Guinea, United States Army, Navy and Marine planes are pounding away at the scattered tentacles of the Japanese forces strung through the Pacific and the Orient. Falling bombs on the Central Press map above show how American pilots on several fronts have struck at Jap bases, supply depots, air fields and harbors. In the Aleutians, Royal Canadian Air Force planes joined Americans for the attack on Kiska.

At present U. S. Marines are in control of strategic islands in the southeastern end of the Solomon archipelago, while the Nipponese cling to other important outposts in the chain northwest of the Tulagi area.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Japanese in the Solomon Islands today are multiplying their attacks by land, sea and air against positions held by American forces, according to a dispatch by a special correspondent of Reuters news agency in the southwest Pacific.

Enemy Units Withdrawing Rapidly Before Attacks Of Australians

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS In Australia, Oct. 1.—The allied counter-drive against the Japanese in New Guinea moved rapidly forward today with Australian ground troops closing in on the village of Menari after retaking the hamlet of Nauro.

Nauro, 10 miles north of Iorabaiwa ridge which the allies retook at the start of their offensive, was evacuated by the Japs in their headlong flight in the face of the strong allied drive. The Japanese in their haste to depart abandoned valuable stores and equipment, as was the case when they scrambled from Iorabaiwa ridge.

Continue Advance

After occupying Nauro the Australian troops continued their march toward Menari, four miles distant, where allied bombing and fighting planes were constantly bombarding the Japanese positions.

A communique was issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur stating that the forward elements of allied ground forces made no contact with the Japs throughout yesterday so rapidly were the enemy units retiring. The allied drive has pushed them back 60 miles from Port Moresby.

Speed Limit Of 35 Miles Per Hour Takes Effect Across Nation

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The government's comprehensive program to provide "tires for all" got under way today as a 35-mile-an-hour national speed limit went into effect and the OPA announced plans for rationing used tires.

The two actions are viewed as vital parts of the over-all rubber conservation program which may make possible the distribution of some kind of new or renovated tires to every motorist who complies with federal regulation.

Next Big Step

Next big step will be nation-wide gasoline rationing, scheduled around November 22, to reduce annual driving to an average of 5,000 miles.

ODT officials said that they have been assured by representatives of the council of state governments that every state will cooperate in enforcing a 35-mile-an-hour speed limit, effective today for an estimated 27,000,000 passenger cars and 5,000,000 trucks.

For-hire carriers in scheduled regular route service, such as the nation's 150,000 buses, will not be required to observe the reduced speed limit until October 15.

ODT legal experts are relying upon state and local authorities to provide enforcement, expressing doubt that the $10,000 fine and two years' imprisonment provided in the President's second war powers act could be applied to such cases. At any rate, it probably would involve a lengthy test case going to the highest federal courts, they explained.

Speed Plans For Women In War Jobs

Committee Is Outlining Move

Women And School-Age Boys Must Fill Gaps In Labor Ranks

NO COMPULSORY DRAFTING SEEN

By EDWIN DARBY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The War Manpower Commission's women's advisory committee meets today to find means of speedily placing women in war jobs as the census bureau warned that women and school-age boys and girls must fill the great labor "gap".

Manpower officials stated, however, that compulsory drafting of women into war work is "highly improbable", but admitted that registration of women may be necessary sometime in 1943, if the labor shortage becomes critical.

Cautioning that even young mothers may be needed, a special census bureau report declared:

Must Fill Gap

"The great gap in the war labor front must be filled by those not normally in the nation's labor supply—boys and girls of high school and college age, housewives and other women, 18 to 44 without dependents, and even mothers with young children."

WMC Chairman McNutt recently stated that women could hold down three-fourths of present war jobs and estimated that increasingly acute conditions may require an increase from 2,500,000 to 6,000,000 women in war work.

WMC spokesmen listed the failure of women to realize the real need for recruits and the lack of proper information on available jobs as two of the greatest factors slowing the flow of women into war jobs.

Can Be Reduced

Meanwhile, census bureau statisticians, utilizing latest figures from the 1940 census, stated flatly that "the pressure on the nation's manpower" supply cannot be materially reduced from the supply of older men."

Cold figures, they said, show the following:

Of the nation's 17,800,000 men 45 or more years old, all but 4,100,000 were reported employed in April 1940, long before serious manpower drains began.

More than half of that amount, 2,800,000 men, were listed as unable to hold a regular job or as confined to institutions.

Of the remaining 1,300,000, census reports showed that more than 700,000 were over 65 years of age.

However, the bureau concluded, "some of those reported as unable to work may, in an emergency, become part of the war labor force."

PLAN FOR START OF VITAL DRIVE FOR SCRAP METAL

nation with a shortage of food. Furnaces are dark because there is not sufficient scrap, for in maming open hearth steel it takes a tremendous amount of steel scrap.

"It is true we have had a scrap drive before but that collection is long since gone. The need is so vital just now, and the sad part of it is that it isn't just the steel mills that need scrap its the fighting men that need implements. If the people of Lawrence county could know the perilous situation there wouldn't be any question about getting in the scrap."

Plans For Collection

Plans for the collection will be worked out within a day or so. The maps of the city and county, used last time will be used again, and an attempt will be made to call at every house and farm in Lawrence county.

This time it is hoped to make the collection in shorter time than the last one. This time the citizens will be asked to get their scrap out to the curb on the days the collections will be made. As for payment for scrap there have been many calls and letters received suggesting that the citizens contribute their scrap this time.

This would not mean that no money would be paid for the scrap but would mean that payment would be made by the truck load and the money put into some worthy cause. The idea is being considered. It has much merit in that it would save the time of the scrap collectors in weighing each individual pile of scrap. A representative of the Salvage Committee would accompany the truck and get the weight slip. No decision was arrived at in this connection.

Time To Get Serious

It is time to get serious about this scrap collection. Not alone odds and ends of steel, rubber, zinc, copper, lead and brass, but articles which are not being used. There are a lot of ornamental iron and steel fences around properties in the city and county. They are nice looking decorations in peace time but in war time they would look much nicer in the shape of guns and tanks.

The German field piece on the public square will probably be taken in this drive, the American Legion and city council both having said that they were willing to have it turned into armament.

Around every house there is a lot of scrap if the people will get it out. Now is the time to get it out, and with some co-operation from everybody the scrap will get out.

The green light is on. The starting day for the drive is Saturday, October 10th. This is a job everybody can help in. You don't have to be able to sing patriotic songs, or write fancy resolutions to help out. Its a job that everybody can help in, and that means you.

There are no new tricks. When enemies questioned Jesus, they were the tricky, slick questions of shysters.

LOSSES MOUNT IN SOLOMONS

the American high command was prepared to risk a great deal to oust the Japanese from the area and to hold it against any counter-attack the enemy may launch.

Likewise, the Nipponese losses since the start of the battle early in August must be interpreted as an indication that the Japs have prepared for a death struggle to hold their present islands and to attempt to oust the U. S. forces from the Tulagi-Guadalcanal area.

The Navy's communique confirmed the destruction of the former 8,378-ton liner U. S. City of Los Angeles early in the Solomons action after the vessel had unloaded troops and supplies for the initial American attack.

Losses Light

The second vessel lost was the U. S. S. Gregory, a destroyer-type auxiliary transport, which was sunk recently by enemy gunfire in the Guadalcanal area. Loss of life on both vessels was reported as light.

Previously the Navy announced the loss of two destroyers, two small transports and one cruiser, and damage to two cruisers, two destroyers and a transport.

Japanese losses in the Solomons to date include more than 28 ships of all types sunk or damaged and at least 209 airplanes destroyed.

Renamed the U. S. S. George F. Elliott, the Los Angeles was destroyed after a Japanese torpedo plane crashed into the vessel Aug. 8 and started gasoline fires that could not be extinguished.

Despite losses, both the United States and Japan have been moving in additional reinforcements and supplies for an anticipated showdown battle that may decide control of the entire southwest Pacific area.

Ever since U. S. Marines seized the Guadalcanal area, it has been apparent that American forces expect not only to hold their gains but eventually to oust the Japanese from nearby islands still held by the enemy.

A Japanese counter-move in force is expected momentarily, however, either in the Solomons or against other American outposts in the Pacific.

ALLIED ADVANCE IN NEW GUINEA IS NOT CHECKED

Kittyhawk fighters and twin-engined bombers, strafed and blasted the entire length of the Kokoda trail along which the Japs had advanced through the Owen Stanley mountain range toward the United Nations base at Port Moresby.

Bridge Attacked

Heavy bombers attacked both ends of the flimsy Jap-held bridge over the Wairopi river with demolition bombs and left the structure sagging and badly damaged, the communique said. Supply dumps along the route from the Japanese landing point at Buna toward Port Moresby were strafed and set ablaze.

"Strong formations of our attackers, with fighter escort, harried the enemy lines of supply in the Menari area," the communique said.

"Several fires were started during the day as a result of strafing sweeps. All of our planes returned."

Buna Attacked

Buna itself again was attacked by allied heavy bombers which blasted enemy installations.

Medium bombers meanwhile made a new sortie against Japanese installations at Buin, on Bougainville island in the Solomons, from which the Japs have been feeding planes into the Solomons fray.

The airdrome and dispersal areas at Buin, one of the Japs' principal refueling and repair points in the Solomons, suffered direct hits.

Bombs also were rained down on the enemy airdrome on Buka island, just north of Bougainville.

perts that violators of the 35-mile limit will not only be "unpatriotic," but also will be violating both a federal order and executive orders or proclamations issued by various state executives.

The OPA issued an order immediately "freezing" the sale of used tires and tubes preparatory to rationing recommended by the Baruch rubber committee, which also endorsed nationwide gasoline rationing and the 35-mile speed limit.

Used tires are being brought into the program, OPA officials said, because they will be needed in carrying out Baruch's recommendations of "providing tires for all essential uses."

"It is important to have available for rationing not only the mileage that is represented by used tires with good tread thicknesses still remaining, but also the supply of recappable carcasses which are the starting point of any successful recapping program," they said.

The "freeze" order does not prevent the sale to a consumer of an automobile equipped with used tires and dealers also are permitted to shift mounted used tires among their cars.

Expansion of the civilian tire replacement and recapping program is expected to be one of the next steps in the "tires for all" program. The best tires and recaps probably will be given to drivers with the largest "essential" mileage under the gasoline rationing program.

Lots of folks got on the busses this morning at a new street intersection, as the skip-stop plan went into effect. It seemed to be working without much friction. Speed of busses can be considerably increased on the trips, it is indicated. Poles on which orange bus stop signs had been painted, and which are at stops eliminated by the new program, have been touched up with black paint so that the orange signs are eliminated.

Folks who were of the belief that frost turns the leaves yellow and red and brown have been disillusioned this year. Naturalists claim it is due to a chemical change in the leaf structure. We have had several killing frosts so far this season, and the leaves do not seem to have been much affected.

Pa Newc noted that just before the killing frost Monday evening, a lot of green tomatoes were seen in gardens. A passing thought: wonder how many of them were gathered in time for housewives to make good home-made piccalilli.

GLASSES BROKEN; TWO HAVE FACE CUT

Two men were treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital for lacerations about the eyes, received in peculiar accidents of a similar nature, about the same time of day, Wednesday.

Joe W. Campbell, electrician with the Marvin Electric Co., received a laceration below the left eye, when a pair of pliers he was using, slipped, striking his glasses and breaking them. He was treated at the hospital at 4:45 p. m.

Howard Smith of 827 Lutton street, was treated at 5 p. m. for a laceration of the nose, received when he accidentally bumped his glasses and broke them, the glass cutting him.

FINAL ACTION ON ANTI-INFLATION BILL IS NEARING

was reached today, Democratic leaders said that he would take no action to stabilize prices or wages before the bill is enacted.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was disclosed authoritatively, approved the compromise effected in the Senate with the farm bloc, on ceiling prices for agricultural products.

"I think we can get the bill to the White House by Friday night," said Democratic Senate Leader Barkley.

America has two fronts: the far-scattered front where heroes are dying, and the home front that treats war as a sideline.

The party was in the form of a spaghetti supper, and held at the home of Mrs. Henzel, a recent bride and former classmate of the graduates. Her mother, Mrs. Marietta Cavaricci, and Helen Lisco assisted in serving the tasty meal. Blue and white predominated, and the table was prettily arranged.

The honorees were presented with lovely hankies, all in a miniature parachute attached to the chandelier, with ribbons leading to the individual places. Upon pulling the ribbons, each girl received a hankie as a remembrance.

Dancing later in the evening provided the main diversion for the nurses and guests.

NEW CASTLE NURSES PARTY FOR GRADUATES

In the Nurses home of the New Castle hospital Wednesday evening, the New Castle Hospital Alumnae association entertained at a delightfully informal party, honoring the graduating class who will receive their diplomas this evening for having completed the required nursing course.

Nearly 50 were present to share festivities, and attention was given to a varied program of pastimes. For bridge, Mrs. Melissia Allen, Mrs. Kathryn Stintson and Mrs. Sylvia Greer were prize winners; for 500, Sister Mary Edwards, Mrs. Joseph Filigenzi and Miss Teresita Cosgrove were the winners, while for other contests Miss Helen O'Tousa, Miss Jean Ricciuti and Miss Vivian Hoenstine were given trophies. The door prize was drawn by Miss Evelyn Johnson. These presentations were made by Sister Annunciata.

During the evening, Sister Martina, superintendent of the hospital; Sister Dolorosa, director of nurses, and Sister M. Lucian, nursing art instructor, were each given a special gift from the alumnae. They in turn responded graciously.

Delicious refreshments were served at tables cleverly decorated in the patriotic motif.

In a quiet ceremony performed in the First Christian church parlors Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, Miss Helen Delin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Delin, 514 East Winter avenue, became the bride of William Frankin Reitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Reitz of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown.

The ceremony was performed by the church pastor, Dr. G. S. Bennett.

The couple was unattended and only their immediate families witnessed the ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a victory blue velvet two-piece dress, made semi-military style, and wine accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of bronze rosebuds and gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Reitz are making their home at 427 LaClede avenue in Youngstown where the bridegroom is employed by Republic Steel.

Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated at the ceremony at 9 o'clock, using the single ring service. Of double significance is the fact that today is the 25th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white chiffon velvet, with full skirt and sweetheart neckline. Here long veil was caught with a turban-crown, edged with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, gardenias and an orchid. A gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom, was her only jewelry.

Miss Rose Greco, as maid of honor, was attired in a gown of old rose marquisette, with blue accessories and a bouquet of tea roses.

James DeGregory served the bridegroom as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families only. Mr. and Mrs. D'Antonio will depart at 5 o'clock this afternoon on their wedding trip, destination unknown. Upon their return they will reside at 1020 Pollock avenue.

Mrs. D'Antonio attended our local high school, and is employed at the Johnson Bronze company. Mr. D'Antonio, a graduate of Grove City High school, and Boston college, where he was a football player, is foreman at the Mellon-Stewart Construction company at Transfer, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Siano of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. Rocco D'Antonio Jr. of Butler, Pa., were special guests attending.

Mrs. Hornung said a few words of welcome to Dr. Burr M. McKnight the new pastor and his family who were present as special guests. Devotions, "Better Things For Youths," were read by Mrs. Michael Bowden.

The Story Of Famous Diamonds

. . . diamonds that have shared in the course of world events.

The Cullinan Diamond

Larger Than a Woman's Hand

Largest of all known diamonds was the mighty Cullinan, a mammoth stone weighing one and one-third pounds. It was found in the Premier Mine in South Africa and sent to England as a present to the crown—by ordinary registered post, in a tin box, with a dollar's worth of stamps affixed! The work of cutting took months of study to produce over a hundred gems, the two largest of which are now the biggest cut diamonds in the world . . . one adorns the English sceptre; the other is mounted in the front of the Imperial State Crown.

ENDING OF AUDACITY

STRIKING similarity has marked the three principal scenes of action in the war during recent days. Each battle front emphasizes the fact that the sharp edge of axis audacity has been blunted. Entering into the equation has been a resolute resistance in each case, hastening the exhaustion that is inevitable in over-bold aggression.

The Russian campaign has been crucial in the southern sector for a month. It will be remembered that last year toward the conclusion of the summer campaign in Russia the Nazi army, badly over-extended, flung itself into Rostov but could not hold it because of the desperate last-ditch defense of the Russians and because Nazi offense had been made hopelessly impotent by prolonged impetuosity.

The Nazi army fell back, went into winter quarters and very late in the spring of 1942 again attempted a violent thrust which has been stopped at Stalingrad, where unyielding defense is grappling with staggering offense in one of the great battles of history.

In the New Guinea-Solomon Island campaign Tokyo in advancing on Australia attempted to repeat its rapid descent on Java. The Japs have been gouged out of Guadalcanal and blocked in their advance through the Owen Stanley mountains upon Port Moresby. Their objective, Australia, is still leagues away.

In Africa Rommel weeks ago fell headlong in trying to carry everything before him in one audacious dash. Success would have sent him beyond Suez. Failure has prostrated him. There, as in Russia and the Orient, the Axis is beginning to pay the penalty imposed inevitably upon effrontery.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOT DOG FANCIERS

Gas tanks may go dry, tires wear down to the fabric, coffee become non-existent and two-inch tenderloin steaks only a fond memory, but millions of Americans are likely to be found dancing in the streets over the news that hot dogs are going to be plentiful.

How, in these lean days, does this happen? According to a report to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Henderson by Harry D. Oppenheimer, president of the Natural Casing Institute, so much beef and pork has been harvested for the Army and Navy that there are plenty of trimmings to provide miles and miles of frankfurters.

So haul out your grills and frying-pans, turn up the gas or throw on another log, unleash the succulent dog and go to it—and if there are a good many of us who just don't like the things, with or without mustard, don't mind us. There will be just that many more dogs for the rest of you.

MEAT RATIONING INTRICACIES

While the basic projected meat ration is scheduled tentatively to be two and one-half pounds of meat per person each week, those who have long been following the intricacies of meat distribution in America wonder if it will turn out that way.

Under the law of supply and demand distributors attempted with considerable success to regulate meat distribution regionally through a very simple device. When the price of pork, beef or mutton was unusually high in a city or an area, distributors recognized increased demand and sent more meat there. If prices were unusually low in another area, distributors cut down the flow of meat in that direction because they knew supply there was in excess of demand.

In the summer just ended there were complaints of regional shortages. That was because under regulation government ceilings were higher in some cities than in others. Distributors naturally sent more meat to high areas than to low ceiling areas, although demand in low ceiling areas may have been as great or greater than demand in high ceiling areas.

How this problem of distribution is to be worked out under rationing isn't plain. Probably it cannot be solved and while each American theoretically will be entitled to his two and one-half pounds weekly, inequitable distribution may deny it to consumers in some areas and in others there may be more than enough meat to meet the demand of purchases permitted by the government.

How restaurants will operate under meat rationing also has not been explained.

NAZI "EXECUTIONS"

Report of the Inter-Allied Information Committee in London that the Nazis have "executed" 207,373 persons since they overran Europe is likely to be misinterpreted.

These figures cover only the shooting of hostages and formal executions following courts-martial. Most of the deaths were in Poland.

The misinterpretation is likely because the other victims of Nazi terrorism have not been included. Thousands upon thousands have died in concentration camps; many have been slain attempting to escape by sea or across land frontiers, and thousands more have perished from hunger after the food stocks in their homelands have been stolen by their "liberators."

Mass murder of civilians is another form of Nazi "execution" which fails to gain a place in the computation simply because there is no way of estimating the toll. Nor can any count be made of the thousands who died fleeing from the territory the Nazi armies have overrun. Poles by the hundreds of thousands simply disappeared after their country was partitioned.

Reports of atrocities in the last war were confined to isolated cases shocking in their barbarity. But they were bedtime stories alongside the numbing tales of terrorism and death that sweep with the swastika.

No statistical compilation can ever take account of all the victims, nor appraise accurately the effects of Hitlerian brutality. To the millions exposed in even a small degree to this barbarism, one freedom, let alone four, has an appeal.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN A CHILD FEIGNS ILLNESS

Can you remember the headache you didn't have, the pain in your chest that wasn't there, or the doctored throat that was not sore? Maybe you never discovered or used such means of escaping arduous or repellant tasks.

But some of us do remember, and indeed do not have to go far back. Occasionally adults discover that a sudden ailment wins them coveted attention.

Many children employ this convenient device, and parents overanxious about their health encourage it. Anyway, the child enjoys a little extra tenderness and waiting on, and it usually works very well, I know, I tried it when I was about nine. My sister nearest my age, whose companionship I cherished, with no boy playmates near our country home, was, as I saw it, blessed with bronchitis when I wasn't.

Feigned Headache

School then had little lure for me, but home had a great deal, especially when my sister was there. With a vigorous appetite at breakfast I could not very well feign illness in the early morning; so off I trudged with my brother ten years older. But about ten o'clock a very "severe" headache developed. Tears came, and my brother took me home as ill.

The third successive day the same thing happened I was dosed with medicine. But my appetite betrayed me. Accordingly my father had some doubts. I remember that I sensed this, and next morning he told me rather sternly not to come home again or I would "get a little hickory oil." I understood, and ten o'clock passed without a headache. I was wholly cured.

Many parents have told me of similar problems with school children. Some pre-school children, jealous of a younger brother or sister, also feign illnes to gain attention.

Best To Make Sure

Regardles of the child's age, it is safe to assume that he may be ill. Put him to bed, since he is "sick," and whether or not the thermometer registers fever, give him limited liquid diet. Of course, if the child has a temperature noticeably above normal, you will call the doctor.

The school child so pretending is likely to show marked recovery an hour or so two past school time. If so, say to him, "Since you are ill it is not safe for you to get out of bed today." Don't suggest that he is being punished. Merely take him at his word, and be so busy during the day that he won't get much attention.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. You advise spanking the tot to keep him out of the street. It doesn't work with my boy of four. I must have spanked him 20 times and he still runs into the street alone.

A. That tot probably has run into the street 50 times after which he was not spanked. In order to make him safe, be sure he gets an instant spanking the next 20 times he goes into the street alone. If there are no exceptions, he won't risk nearly 20 times more.

When you are fighting hard for the reputation of a friend, you're generally right in judging both to be good fellows.

An elderly bachelor who was a man of considerable wealth was notorious for his dislike for children. Near the entrance of his estate was a tenant house. One of the duties of the tenant was to attend to the gate—to open and close it for trucks and cars bringing supplies and occasional guests to the 'mansion' which was located about a mile back from the road.

A new tenant was engaged as caretaker for the grounds and to lock and unlock the gates. Often the care taker's wife attended to the gate when the man was busy at other duties on the grounds. After a few months, however, the wife presented her husband with a fine baby boy. On hearing of the new arrival, the owner paid a visit to the gate-keeper and said: "I just heard, McLaren, that your wife has a son."

"Yes, indeed," said the man, beaming proudly.

"Well, now, look here. When I engaged you as caretaker and gate keeper, I hired you to open and shut the gate . . . .not to propagate."

During the "Be Kind to the Waitress" week, some one brought out the following:

"Are you the girl who took my order?" asked the impatient man in a cafe.

"Yes, sir," the waitress replied.

"Well, I declare!" he beamed. "You don't look a day older!"

On her way out of a cafeteria, a smartly-dressed girl handed the cashier a slip of paper on which appeared the number 1004180. The cashier glanced at it, and let the girl pass without paying.

When the proprietor appeared, the cashier handed him the note. He studied the number frowningly, then demanded to know its meaning.

"You see," said the cashier, "it reads, 'I owe nothing for I ate nothing.'"

WARDROBE OF WELL-DRESSED GIRL

"How many different dresses do I actually need?"

This is typical of questions I receive from scores of girls in the course of a month.

My answer: The average woman will find the following dresses useful: A house dress—or slacks—if she is a home body, street dresses appropriate to wear to business, a coat suit, and afternoon dress, a formal evening dress.

But the girl who has to economize can be appropriately dressed for all but very formal occasions if she has a simple, smart street dress and one other dress for big afternoons and little evenings. If she buys, for street, office or sports wear, a skirt that will harmonize with her coat and several little sweaters that will go with them, she will find the combination both chic and economical. Too few girls realize the wisdom of the Golden Rule: When in doubt, simplify rather than elaborate. In other words, if there is a question as to choice for any particular occasion, it is safer to chose the simpler frock.

Question: At a home wedding, during which the bride will wear a veil, should the maid-of-honor wear a hat? Are ushers absolutely necessary? Should the bride loosen her bouquet before throwing it over the stairs?—Bride.

Answer: To complete her costume, the maid-of-honor should wear a head covering, which may be flowers (now very fashionable) or a hat. A turban or halo to match her dress would be very pretty. You need have no ushers at a home wedding.

Question: I have just married. Should I write my name—Mrs. Robert Jones or Mrs. Mary Jones on the back of the envelop to indicate my return address?—M. J.

Answer: Mrs. Robert Jones is correct, since this is a label not a signature.

Hitler May Decide To Ditch Mussolini
Havnig Trouble Keeping Peace In Family
May Switch To Pierre Laval Of France

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—What Hitler and Signor Mussolini talked about at their recent conference in Austria hasn't been publicized in the slightest detail. There are pretty circumstantial reports, however, to the effect that Adolf is having trouble keeping his totalitarian family in order. They are not mere guessers, either, but conclusions drawn on the strength of quite obvious indications. Assuming their correctness, the fair supposition is that Adolf arranged the meeting to make some fresh promises to Benito, or else to scare him into believing just as the Nazi boss tells him to behave.

Of course the Duce originally hooked up with the Fuehrer, not on account of any personal liking he had for the latter, but in the hope of a profit for himself from the partnership.

Instead, everything that Adolf has scooped in he's kept exclusively for the Reich. It's true that Benito hasn't helped him much. He was quite a splurge during Fascism's early days, but presently petered almost completely out. Possibly the Nazi dictator considers him no longer worth bothering with.

In fact, one story is that Adolf plans to discard him altogether, and, as a substitute for him, take in Pierre Laval, with liberal Italian concessions to France.

Laval Has Some Fighters

Pierre probably would, indeed, develop into a more competent deputy than Benito's proved to be. To be sure, he has the Free French against him. Nevertheless, he has a substantial bloc of followers, and these chaps, such as there are of 'em, are tolerably efficient fighters, whereas hardly any of the Italians are—not under Adolf's banner, that is to say; I don't imply that they won't fight if they feel like it.

Anyway, it's understandable that Benito, if he's heard these Laval rumors, as it's far more than likely that he has, must be in a dickens of a frame of mind over 'em.

Now did he, maybe, arrange that conference to ask Adolf about it? Or, perchance, did Adolf arrange it, to tell Benito what's coming to him and warn him to acquiesce peaceably—or else?

Another question arises.

Trust Laval?

Can the Fuehrer trust Pierre Laval? Pierre's an ambitious cuss, and

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOT IN THIS WAR

There is an old maxim that wars make the rich richer and the poor poorer. It is quoted by rabble-rousers and starry-eyed pacifists to support their argument that wars are forced upon the mass of people by powerful financial interests. Even today echoes of the demogogues' charge that the United States was forced into the first world war to protect the large American banking interests are heard.

Figures supplied by the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue, Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture show who is making the money in this war. Wages and salaries are now seventy-two per cent higher than they were in 1939, the country's gross farm income is fifty-one per cent more this year than it was in 1939, but the estimated net income of corporations this year will be twenty-six per cent less than in 1939. This estimate may be off a little due to uncertainty about some provisions of the new revenue bill.

The tendency is interesting in that it is about the same as during the first world war. There was some profiteering at that time, and some of it was beyond all defense. But much of it was at the expense of the allied governments especially Great Britain. However, the gross of wages and farm income soared because at that time the war debt did not invite the prospect of disastrous inflation.

The figures show not only that the money is going to the people, but also that the people will have to be taxed more heavily and buy more war bonds if they are to carry their share of the war financing burden.

The battle under way in St. Louis is one we can understand.

The communiques are concise and clear, we know exactly how many runs were scored and who scored them. We know how many men were left on base and why.

If there are any errors they are announced immediately and the value to the opponent is assessed immediately.

We will not be left in the dark on a single detail and there will be no double-talk in the box score.

It's the kind of information we were brought up on and it's habit-forming.

That's why we stumble confusedly through the war news trying to piece a clear picture out of incomplete accounts of hits, runs and errors.

The only thing we don't know about the series is which team will win it.

Thought for the day: Bet on the Yanks to win the big game of the Axis series.

The President And New York

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.

THE APPEARANCE of Mrs. Roosevelt last week at a big Democratic rally in New York, where she endorsed the whole Democratic ticket and spoke from the same platform with Mr. Farley's candidate for governor, Mr. Bennett, again drew outside attention to the political situation in that state, and raised some interesting questions.

ONE OF these, of course, was whether the President would follow the example of his wife, and if so, when and how. The question of whether Mrs. Roosevelt's endorsement reflected Mr. Roosevelt's views or whether she plunked for Mr. Bennett and the whole ticket without consultation with him is one which nobody except Mr. or Mrs. Roosevelt can answer. The prevailing view, however, is that while the lady acted on her own, the unqualified support which she has announced makes the position of her distinguished husband considerably more uncomfortable.

UP TO DATE he has consistently avoided any statement and a number of times has evaded press conference questions to to whether he intends to support Mr. Bennett. In the end, to be sure, he will do so, because there is no alternative for the titular leader of the Democratic party. But the question is whether he will announce this support in a whole-hearted and effective way or a perfunctory and damaging way. It is not exaggeration to say that because of the national flavor of this New York gubernatorial fight the method the President adopts is of interest and concern to politicians in both parties all over the country.

MORE THAN that—it interests many outside the field of active politics who are deeply concerned as to the caliber of the man and his ability to measure up to the great leadership responsibilities placed upon him by the war. Because, the manner in which he uses his influence in the New York campaign will cast a revealing light upon his character. It is not a pretty position in which he finds himself, but it is a position for which no one is to blame save himself and from which no one else can extricate him with credit.

BEYOND DOUBT, his delay in making his announcement already

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

A successful railroad executive stood before the Rotary club in White Plains, N. Y., and decried the pampering of modern youth.

Kids get too much money from their parents nowadays, he complained. They have it too easy. They are made softies by their folks' indulgence.

"Look at the life of Thomas Edison," he exclaimed. "Was his path as a youth made rosy and easy by detours around rough places? If it had been, no one would ever have heard of Edison and few of his inventions."

The paper in which I read this story had just been delivered to me by a boy on a bicycle.

It was raining cats and dogs. But he came up the hill wet to the skin, with a smile and whistling "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones."

He does that, day after day, rain or shine, so that he may contribute a few dollars each week to help the family along.

One of our office boys commutes four hours a day to earn a livelihood.

Another boy I know cuts the grass for his neighbors at 25 cents an hour.

Softies, Mr. Railroad Executive?

The soldiers at Bataan were present-day boys just a couple of years ago.

Colin Kelly's kid is an American boy. Lieutenant Powers, who was mentioned by the President in his recent radio speech, was nothing more than a big boy.

How about those girls who work for the Red Cross, those nurses aides, those youngsters who drive ambulances and fly planes?

How about the Boy Scouts who collect scrap, the Girl Scouts who sell war stamps?

How about the news kids from whom you buy your paper at the corner, those tots who shine your shoes?

Rot, Mr. Executive, our boys aren't softies—they're heroes, willing to give their lives for America.

Wonder Why British Plane Wasn't Spotted

Why wasn't the training plane out of which Student Flyer Tregilges bailed Wednesday morning discovered by observers on its flight from an Ontario field to this city?

This was one of the questions asked in civilian quarters here today which developed the question "had lights been at the local airport could the flyer have descended safely?"

According to reports the plane was unreported until it was heard by a man in Edenburg vicinity who immediately telephoned the report to State Motor police.

Another report said that a war veteran living near the New Castle airport heard the plane when it passed overhead only to crash a short time later.

Council Discussion

During council meeting in the city hall Director of Buildings and Grounds Joseph D. Alexander, said he had read of the plane crash.

He inquired as to what should be done to insure the safety of other planes and pilots who may be situated similarly and asked if Tregilges could have been helped by lights at the airport.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne asked: "Could she have seen them?" The night was foggy.

"The federal government doesn't seem to think we have an auxiliary airport here" said Solicitor White.

He said to put light out there would cost the taxpayers considerable money—and inferred the government should do this.

It was brought out that years ago there were lights at the airport. However, they were removed.

Solicitor White said that the city has a contract with Finley Wilson for the operation of the airport.

He explained, however, there is nothing in the contract which requires Wilson to provide lights.

"We gave him full control" Councilman Alexander stated.

Safety Director D. O. Davies inferred that if the government took over the port and developed it further the city would be asked to match the money which the government would be forced to spend.

Solicitor White said that the city purchased the ground and that the WPA spent probably a couple hundred thousand dollars on the airport.

Nothing toward re-installing the lights at the airport was taken.

However the fact that the plane came all the way from Ontario, unreported, gives forth the impression that if an Axis bomber should escape the eastern command, it "could happen here" despite the complacent "It can't happen here."

Open Philadelphia Season At Fort Dix

Famous Symphony Orchestra To Give Initial Performance For 3,000 Soldiers

(International News Service)

FORT DIX, N. J., Oct. 1.—The famous Philadelphia Symphony orchestra tonight gives its initial performance of the 1942-43 season, but olive drab and khaki uniforms will supplant the top hats and ermine wraps traditionally associated with the occasion.

And a batch of newly-recruited buck privates in Uncle Sam's Army will be on hand instead of the Boks and the Biddles when Eugene Ormandy raps his baton for the opening notes of Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

For the first time in 42 years the orchestra will not begin its season in the red-plushed Academy of Music in Philadelphia. Instead, it will play in the 3,000-seat field house at Fort Dix, regularly the scene of prize fights and sporting events.

The hour and a half program features Strauss' "Emperor Waltz"; Berlioz' "Roman Carnivals Overture," and Harl McDonald's "Arkansas Traveler." McDonald is the orchestra's composer-manager.

Blast Wrecks Home On Cliff Street Today

Walter Koziol, Son Of Owner, In Jameson Memorial Hospital With Injuries

SIDES BLOWN OUT OF HOUSE

Exploding with a roar which rocked the neighborhood, a blast presumably from gas, wrecked the home of Mr and Mrs. Jacob Koziol, of 24 Cliff street at 1 o'clock this afternoon, nearly demolishing the residence, and causing injuries of an undetermined nature to Walter Koziol, 24-year-old son, who was in the house.

City firemen and police were summoned to the scene by neighbors, an alarm from box 611 being sounded. No fire followed the blast, but firemen stated the side walls of the house, a five-room frame structure, were blown out, only the shattered front and back remaining.

Mr. Koziol was at work, and Mrs. Koziol and a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Karski had gone to town. Only Walter and his brother John were at home, but John escaped injury having stepped out of the house only a few minutes previously.

The damage to the place will probably be around $2,000, as it is doubtful if the home can be repaired, it was stated.

Walter, the injured man, was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital by neighbors. It was reported that he was in a hysterical condition, and that the full extent of his injuries had not been determined at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The one side of the house was blown against the home of Andrew Zbegan, at 22 Cliff street, and windows in the Zbegan home were shattered as well as those in the home of John Brysh, adjoining on the other side.

Helping to greet the newcomers to the school system was the new principal's predecessor, Frank L. Burton, now superintendent of city schools, and Mrs. Burton.

Miss Marian Campbell spoke in behalf of the teachers, and to her remarks Mr. Nord responded.

Songs written by two teachers at Franklin were sung. After the program dancing, bridge and social chat occupied the group. Harold Vance gave the dinner invocation.

Co-chairmen for the affair were Miss Georgiana McNees and Miss Mary Scherger.

GRASS FIRE

Second ward firemen were called to the corner of Clenmore boulevard and Highland avenue, around 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, where a small grass fire was in progress.

No Charity Is Soliciting For Scrap In City

It seems as though the chiseler can't even see a war going on without trying to cut himself a piece of cake. Today it became known that some persons in the city are calling upon citizens representing themselves as agents of various charitable organizations and asking for scrap.

The story is that they will take the scrap, sell it and turn the money over to the charitable organization. That is strictly the malarkey. There are no authorized agents of any organization out collecting scrap. The scrap drive will be conducted by the salvage committee of the Lawrence County Council of Defense beginning October 10. There has been some collection by Junior Commandos, Boy Scouts, Junior Red Cross and other such organizations but that is entirely different from agents representing themselves as authorized.

If some smoothie calls at your home and says he wants your scrap to get money for the "Association to Improve the Lot of Indigent Bassoon Players", or any other organization, call a cop.

Vice Problem Is Confronted At Washington

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Wartime Washington is faced today with a problem of commercialized vice that is increasing so rapidly that police and federal health and military authorities are becoming acutely alarmed.

As this sordid business expands under boom-town conditions, the resultant spread of venereal diseases takes its toll of war workers, members of the armed forces, students and residents, and even businessmen visitors who jam the city's leading hotels on vital matters of war production.

This was disclosed at an extraordinary meeting in the Senate yesterday where representatives of the army, navy, public health service, and police heads conferred with Sen. McCarran (D) Nev., on ways and means to check the "unusual" spread of venereal disease and the co-related problem of prostitution.

The meeting itself was brought about as a direct result of a report on commercialized vice conditions in Washington made by the Washington Criminal Justice Association to the office of civilian defense.

A three-hour open discussion of the problem developed that there are now an estimated 45,000 cases of syphilis in this wartime capital with all competent sources present at the meeting ascribing the increase almost wholly to prostitution. One public health physician asserted that nine out of every 10 girls engaged in this sordid business are "carriers" of either syphilis or gonorrhea.

The bombshell report found conditions which, it stated, "indicate that prostitution is rapidly becoming a 'racket' in Washington."

Evidence uncovered, it added, "gives greater emphasis to the belief that unless curbed, it will be one of Washington's big businesses."

The report broke the condition down into three main categories, and listed, in their order of importance, "call houses," "street walkers" and "brothels."

Way Is Paved For Mass Firing Of Employees In State Department

By JOHN PAGET
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—The department of justice paved the way for the mass firing of 126 mercantile and inheritance tax employes in the Democratic-controlled auditor general's department by advising Republican Secretary of Revenue Edward B. Logan that he did not have to defend his dismissal of Ellwood Bauman, supervisor of the Erie district.

Auditor General F. Clair Ross, who maintained that the employes were needed to collect tardy taxes, had subpoenaed Logan to appear before the state board of claims on Oct. 6 to outline his reasons for ordering county registers of wills to halt payment of their salaries on August 15. Logan has accused Ross of padding his payroll with "unnecessary" employes to further his campaign as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Bauman, supervisor of the 12-county Erie district at an annual salary of $3600, has petitioned the board of claims, composed of the auditor general and the state treasurer, to review his claims for services and expenses for a one-month period beginning Aug. 15.

Effect of Opinion

Deputy Attorney General E. Russell Shockley, who wrote the opinion, pointed out that the ruling affected not more than 12 employes in similar positions. He added, however, that other opinions would be filed soon covering other classifications of workers involved in the controversy. Logan, he said, could not be forced to obey the auditor general's subpoena. Bauman's legal recourse would be to file a mandamus action against Logan in the Dauphin county court, he explained.

The opinion stated that the power to appoint persons to supervise appraisements and the work of investigators, appraisers, expert appraisers, permanent appraisers and other employes of the inheritance tax staffs was vested in the auditor general but the power to dismiss was held by the secretary of revenue.

The opinion emphasized that there was "no authority in existing laws for the payment of the salary and expenses of such a supervisor out of the transfer inheritance tax collections in the hands of the register of wills of a particular county situated in a district composed of more than one county."

When Logan was appointed secretary of revenue by Gov. Arthur H. James last June 1, he complained that a survey of the two tax staffs disclosed that Ross had hired many "unnecessary" employes, more than a score of them Democratic committeemen. Subsequently, he directed county registers of wills and county treasurers to refuse to approve their accounts.

Former Local Pastor Loses "Seeing Eye"

Second "Seeing Eye" Dog Of Rev. Robert A. Blair, One-Time Rose Point Pastor, Dies

For the second time in eight years, Rev. Robert A. Blair, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church in New Kensington, and for a number of years pastor of the Rose Point Reformed Presbyterian church, has lost his "Seeing Eye" dog. Gilly is dead.

Rev. Blair's first dog guide, Dot, was killed by an automobile in 1934. Now Gilly, who has led Rev. Blair to the church pulpit Sunday after Sunday, has died of natural causes after a few days illness.

Rev. Blair lost his sight as the result of an infection contracted when he was a missionary in China 15 years and more ago.

Described by friends here as "a real Christian," he is left more helpless than many sightless people are by the death of their "Seeing Eye" dog, since his daughter, Miss Anna Blair, who is housekeeper for her father and helps him prepare his sermons, is also handicapped, being crippled.

Granted a special pass by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad a long while before the law permitted the famous trained dog companions to travel with their masters on trains, Rev. Blair and Gilly enjoyed many train trips together. But foregoing train travel this summer, they spent the month of August at Rose Point.

Now that he has lost the "eyes" which are such a help to him, his friends hope that some good samaritan will restore them to him.

Willkie Subject Of Humorous Interlude

Representatives Discuss His Good Will Mission From Various Angles

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Wendell Willkie's round-the-world good will mission for President Roosevelt was the subject of a humorous interlude in the House Wednesday, with Rep. Rankan (D) Miss., cautioning Britain that "they evidently do not understand Mr. Willkie's technique of 'campaign oratory'."

"It is rather distressing," Rankin said, "to note the confusion that has grown up as a result of Wendell Willkie's talk in Moscow, especially the misunderstanding that seems to be created in both Moscow and London.

"One trouble is that the English don't seem to appreciate a joke—they never could. But my advice to them would be to follow their military leaders who seem to know what they are doing."

Rankin, who was referring to Willkie's speech earlier this week urging a second front, said that "while in Moscow Mr. Stalin expected Mr. Willkie to do something else beside kissing the bar maids, so he had to make a speech."

"He is now in China," Rankin said, "and if he can add to the morale of our allies there by doing so, I hope he kisses every bar maid in China before he comes home."

Rankin then remarked that he thought "a lot of this criticism is coming from the Republicans who never did appreciate our services in nominating Mr. Willkie for president for them in 1940."

Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., replied that "evidently the Democrats don't appreciate our services in releasing Mr. Willkie back to them so he could kiss bar maids and make speeches."

Why Be Troubled By Wartime Constipation?

Avoid one of the common causes—lack of "bulk"!

No wonder so many folks feel "all done in" these war days! It's the way we live—longer hours, harder work, irregular eating habits. And in this hurly-burly, meals are apt to be rushed, improperly balanced—and the important matter of "bulk" overlooked.

What a difference getting enough "bulk" might make! For lack of it is one of the common causes of constipation. In such cases, medicinal laxatives are only "makeshift" remedies; they don't correct the cause!

But eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drinking plenty of water can prevent or overcome this trouble. For this delicious cereal supplies the necessary "bulk." Start eating ALL-BRAN today. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

RAF "Eagles" Join United States Army

Ceremony In England As Men "Who Could Not Wait" Put On American Uniform

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The strength of U. S. air forces in England was increased Wednesday with the incorporation of the famed RAF Eagle Squadrons, while the ability of American parachute troops was shown the British army with whom they participated in the final phases of army maneuvers in Northern Ireland.

In an impressive ceremony at an eagle squadron station somewhere in Great Britain, the men who "could not wait," exchanged their blue uniforms of the RAF for the olive darb of the U. S. Air Force. Drawn up in formation on the station's parade ground, the ranks of the eagle squadron showed many gaps—mute evidence of the losses they suffered from time of the battle of Britain two years ago up to the commando raid on Dieppe last month.

The Stars and Stripes floated beside the British Union Jack and a band played the American national anthem at the impressive formal ceremony attend the transfer of command from Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholte Douglas to Maj. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commander of the U. S. air forces in Europe, and Brig. Gen. Frank O'D Hunter, commander of the U. S. Army fighter command in Europe.

Air Chief Marshal Douglas had high praise for the Eagles, who now wear United States officers uniforms and insignia. To distinguish them as former members of the RAF, they wear the wings of the British Air Force on their right breast while on the left breast is pinned the metal wings of the U. S. Army Air Force.

Henlein's arrest, the council asserted, "is another sign of continuing disintegration of the Nazi party owing to the strain caused by the unfavorable turn of events on the eastern front."

Grand Jury Indicts Detective In Erie

Barber Found Guilty On Two Counts, Jury Continues City Police Probe

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 1.—Detective Sergt. George Barber, a member of the police department here since 1908, was indicted by the county grand jury today on two counts, one alleging subornation of perjury and the other malfeasance.

The indictment charged that Barber attempted to have Patrolman Charles Wizikowski "weaken" his testimony at an alderman's hearing against Dan House, when the latter was up on a charge of driving after his license was suspended.

The indictment was returned as the jury continued its probe into the city police department. More than 50 witnesses have already testified before the jury, and a number more are still awaiting a call.

The Great Game Of Politics

has been of great aid to Mr. Thomas Dewey, the Republican candidte and pre-Pearl Harbor isolationist. To it is due the present boom in the Dewey stock and the betting in his favor. And the longer Mr. Roosevelt refrains from coming out the better for Mr. Dewey—the worse for the Democratic ticket. Every politician knows this—and none better than Mr. Roosevelt. Some time in the next few weeks he has got to choose. If, as the Republicans hope, he waits until late in October and then merely lets it be known that he will vote for Mr. Bennett, it will still further help Mr. Dewey. If he does that, the New Deal job holders in New York will be lukewarm in their support and the radical labor element continue hostile.

IF HE PLAYS the game that way and Mr. Dewey is elected, the President may have the personal satisfaction of having "put Jim Farley in his place" and proven himself right when he told him Bennett could not be elected, but he certainly will be blamed for the Dewey election and he certainly will incur the enmity of the many thousands of Democratic state officeholders who will lose their jobs, plus that of a great many Democrats who are neither New Deal nor job-holding, but who believe that the interests of the nation will not be promoted by the election of a Republican governor of New York. Both these types of Democrats would feel that Mr. Roosevelt had been disloyal to the Democratic party and a poor sportsman to boot. Moreover, by that course he certainly would improve the Republican chances of gaining the presidency in 1944 as well as provide them with a candidate. Nor would he have put Mr. Farley out of politics. That gentleman would still be state chairman and in control of the state organization. That will be the President's position if Mr. Dewey wins with his assistance given in the form of mere perfunctory party regularity support of Mr. Bennett.

BUT, WHAT IF, despite that kind of presidential assistance, Mr. Dewey should lose and Mr. Bennett win? Then, no one in the state administration and no one in the state organization would be under the slightest obligation to Mr. Roosevelt—quite the contrary. If that should happen Mr. Farley would have demonstrated that he not only can nominate his candidates against the Roosevelt opposition but he can elect them. If that should happen it would vastly strengthen Mr. Farley as the national Democratic leader and greatly weaken Mr. Roosevelt. It is not easy to see how Mr. Roosevelt can afford to take a chance of that happening.

THE SENSIBLE as well as the self-respecting thing for the President to do, it would seem, is to make the kind of statement that will genuinely help Mr. Bennett and hurt Mr. Dewey; a statement that will leave no room for doubt of the sincerity of his desire to see the Democratic candidate win. If he does that and Mr. Bennett wins, then part of the credit will be his. If he does that and Mr. Bennett loses, the result cannot be charged against him. To do less than that is neither smart nor creditable. It is too bad that Mrs. Roosevelt got ahead of him, but he should not let that deter him.

uglier than the Duce has turned out to be. Can Adolf safely gamble on him, except very temporarily? And he'll have Gen. Charles de Gaulle to reckon with immediately.

Still another of Herr Hitler's calculations has gone wrong.

Not long ago he was bidding for the co-operation of Caudillo (meaning dictator) Francisco Franco of Spain. A totalitarian, like the Fuehrer, Francisco seemed rather friendly at the time. Now it appears that he's suspicious of Pierre Laval, too. Possibly he's heard that Pierre's been promised gains at Spain's expense, as well as at Italy's. Anyhow, he's acquiring evidently cold feet.

The Fuehrer unquestionably pledged the Caudillo Axis support in a Spanish grab of Portugal, a notion Francisco, at that juncture, was favorable to.

Latin America on Our Side

Since then, though, Portugal's New World national offspring, Brazil, has entered the war on the democracies' side and most of Latin America has lined up the same way. It's too powerful a combination for the Caudillo safely to antagonize—certainly on commercial and, to some extent, on military grounds. The Latin New Worldlings aren't fixed to land armies in Spain, but, with English and Yankee assistance, they could raise Cain aviatorially (a game that Brazil, particularly, is pretty good at) all along the Mediterranean.

Besides, Spain is predominantly anti-Axis. Caudillo Franco won a pro-totalitarian civil war, but he won it skimpily and with oodles of Nazi-Fascist backing. He wouldn't have it today, and revolt is beginning to boil up under him already.

It wouldn't surprise me to learn of a conference shortly, following the Mussolini affair, between Herr Hitler and Pierre Laval; next Adolf and Francisco.

The fourth in order should be one between Adolf and the premier of Japan.

Christmas Packages To Servicemen Must Have Right Address

By JANE COCHRAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Shop early, pack securely, address carefully and please, "no purty ribbons."

That's the Christmas prescription for gifts to men in Uncle Sam's overseas service—and you'll be a much more successful Santa Claus if you pay strict attention to the rules.

The army, the navy, the coast guard and the marines, too, are going to do their utmost to see that every last Christmas gift reaches that service man, be he in Iceland or the Solomons. That is, they will if you do your part. They ask this of you—shop now, don't delay and mail your presents between October 1 and November 1. November is the deadline for mailing if that service man isn't to be disappointed come December 25.

Your generous impulses might carry you away, but don't forget—our cargo vessels must carry ammunition as well as Christmas presents, and welcome as the latter might be, there's scarcely a comparison in importance. That's why the four services have put weight and size restrictions on Christmas packages. You might have done up that man's present in a stocking last year, but this year you'll pack them in a shoebox . . . the suggested package size for all branches of service.

Limits Set

Navy and coast guard packages can't weigh over seven pounds; the army and the marines will allow you 11, but they'd be happier if you'd stick to the seven-pound figure. Navy packages are to be of shoe box size—roughtly 4½ inches by 12½ inches (unless you wear size 12). Army and marine packages can not be more than 18 inches long, and must not exceed 42 inches in length and girth, combined.

Of course, if your soldier lad is stationed on the continental United States regular fourth class mail or so-called parcels post regulations apply. These limit maximum weight to 70 pounds per package and dimensions to not more than 100 inches in length and girth combined.

The navy will appreciate it if you suddenly get carried away by the Christmas spirit and decide to send a package to sixth cousin John Smith, USN.

Must Have Right Address

But nobody's going to love you, not even Smith, if you put only that address on it. The navy has more than its share of Smiths. Do first drop a line to John's mom, and ask her his unit, name of ship, rating, and routing post office, and put that plainly on the outside of the package. The post office will be either New York or San Francisco, depending on what fleet he's with. Don't forget your return address.

In addressing army packages, you should include name, and rank or rating, the army serial number, branch of service, organization, A.P.O. number and post office used for routing for soldiers; for marines include the name, corps unit number and routing post office. Do the same for the coast guard as for the navy.

Regardless of where your soldier or marine is serving abroad, you are required to pay postage only to the forwarding post office. Uncle Sam will take it the rest of the way without charge. For the army and the marines, these forwarding post offices are: New York, San Francisco, Seattle, New Orleans, Miami and Presque Isle, Maine.

It is important to remember that the post office will accept only one parcel in any one week from the same person or organization for delivery to the same sailor, soldier or marine.

Young Saboteur Gets Four Years

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—A 17-year-old Italian immigrant boy who admitted putting nails and screws into motors intended for navy torpedo boats and sub-chasers, was committed to reform school until he becomes 21.

The boy, Michele Ferretti, has been in this country but two years. An FBI agent told Federal Judge George A. Welsh it was possible that some motors that were tampered with had been installed in navy boats now at sea.

In the 1800's tuberculosis among cattle was so prevalent that a Massachusetts physician said, "A cat could not be kept at the cattle barn without developing a cough, becoming emaciated and pining away."

Christmas Seals Are Available For Service Men's Mail

Can Be Secured In Advance Of Regular Seal Sale To Send To Men Abroad

Christmas seals for use on Christmas mail and packages for service men abroad can be secured now from the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, Lawrence Savings and Trust Co. Building, it was announced today by Andrew Dodds, Christmas Seal sale chairman.

Mr. Dodds also suggested that some individuals might also desire to send a sheet of Christmas seals to relatives and friends serving in the armed forces outside of the United States.

"This opportunity is provided because of the announcement by the postal authorities that Christmas mail for men serving abroad should be mailed by October, or not later than November 1," explained Mr. Dodds.

"The 1942 Christmas seal shows a farm scene on a bright winter day. The seals bear the words 'Merry Christmas' and show the double-barred cross which is the world wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis

"The use of this seal on gift packages, letters and cards will brighten and 'dress-up' mail going to men and women in foreign lands. The snow scene will appeal especially to the boys in the South Seas and other warm climates. In addition to increasing the Christmas appearance of the mail the use of the Christmas seals will aid the fight against tuberculosis on the home front during the war."

Faith In Christ As Our Personal Savior

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The Christ

"Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."—Romans 5:1.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 4 is Acts 16:11-34; Romans 5:1-11; I John 5:1-5, the Golden Text being Romans 5:1, "Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.")

Paul had heard in a vision the cry, "Come over into Macedonia and help us.' Macedonia was in the northern part of what is now known as Greece. Paul felt that this vision was a divine command to him to go to Europe and save souls there. Therefore he and Silas took boat and arrived at Philippi a Roman colony and chief city of Macedonia.

On the Sabbath day Paul and Silas sought the river bank to pray. A little band of worshipers were there, and Paul and Silas taught them of Christ. A woman who was a "seller of purple", dyes of this royal color which were obtained from Tyrian shellfish found on the coast, was present. She came from the city of Thyritira and she worshiped God. She listened attentively to Paul's message and asked to be baptized, she and her household. After she had been baptized she insisted that the preachers be guests at her house.

A certain poor young woman was "possessed with a spirit of divination". That means that she was mentally ill and talked wildly. Hearing the two preachers, she followed them crying, "These men are the servants of the most high God, which shew us the way of salvation."

Followed Them Many Days

This she did many days, and finally Paul turned and commanded, in the name of Jesus, that the spirit come out of her. It came out and she was cured of her hysterical mania. Now certain had made a good living out of the poor woman's ravings, pretending that she could prophesy, so when they saw the source of this easy income vanish, they were very angry. They dragged Paul and Silas to the market-place, where the rulers were, saying, "These men being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our city."

The multitude rose against Paul and Silas, tore off their clothes and had them beaten, then haled off to prison, where the jailer thrust them into a dark cell, put their feet in stocks, and left them, being warned to keep them safely. Nothing could daunt the spirits of these brave men, however, so at midnight they were praying and singing in their loathsome prison, when an earthquake shook the foundations of the building and broke their shackles.

When the jailer realized that his prisoners were free, he was terribly frightened, as he had been told he must keep them safe. He knew his life would be forfeited if they had gone, so he prepared to kill himself. Paul and Silas called to him, however, and told him not to harm himself as they were still in the prison. When he heard that he hastened to them, unable to realize how it was that people imprisoned and set free would not run away. Down on his knees before the two missionaries he fell, crying, "What must I do to be saved?"

Believe on Christ

"And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house."

He then took them to his house, sat meat before them, washed their wounds and was baptized, he and all his family. With his acceptance of Christianity this man was changed. He was no longer the cruel jailer, but the kind, hospitable host.

Thus does love of Christ transform us, making us indeed followers of Him, not only to love our enemies, to do good to those who use us spitefully and persecute us, but to "glory in tribulations also; knowing that tribulation worketh patience, experience; and experience, hope; and hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts."

In I John 5: "By this we know that we love the chidlren of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.

"For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments: and His commandments are not grievous.

"For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

Lieutenant Wickman To Discuss Salvage

First Meeting Of Season To Be Held Friday By Penn Power Club

Walter Gross, president of the Penn Power club, announces that the club will hold its first meeting of the 1942-1943 season on Friday, October 2 at 8 o'clock in the assembly room of the service building. A very interesting program has been arranged at which time, Lieutenant Eric Wickman will talk on "Present Day Salvage Operations."

Lieutenant Wickman is connected with salvage operations on the S. S. Lafayette, formerly the French liner "Normandie." His talk should be most interesting.

Other officers of the organization are: Vice presidents, Harry Orr and Arthur Guy; treasurer, Arthur Lowman and secretary, Clay Aubel.

Every Employee of This Newspaper Is a Home Front Soldier in the FIGHT TO WIN---VICTORY!

WHILE America's planes, ships and armed forces smash at the enemy with fighting machines and manpower—America's men and women employed at turning out your daily newspaper—smash at the enemy on the home front with the machines that bring forth the written word, and with the power of a Free Press! There are men and women right around the corner of your own address . . . rubbing shoulders with you when you shop . . . sending their children to school with your own . . . who, day and night, work to keep you abreast of the news of all the world. Some of these home front soldiers are reporters who go out and get the news—often at personal risk; others are teletypers who transcribe messages from all over the world, helping to bring every scene of action before your very eyes! The list is long—there are compositors who set the type as you read it; photographers who dare anything to get a vivid picture to give you an intimate look at what you read about; there are those who distribute the paper, those who place it within your very hands . . . and more—all your neighbors—all dedicating their wartime productivity to Victory!

Also enlisted in the fight for Victory, through the medium of your daily newspaper, are the retailers who speak to you in its advertising columns. They tell you where and when you can get what you need. They help you fight inflation by complying with government price regulations, and by providing people in every income bracket with a fair share of available merchandise. And your retailers—like your newspaper—have become Uncle Sam's Bond salesmen—and Bond purchasers. For it is with the money that buys War Bonds that our fighting forces are equipped in their FIGHT TO WIN—VICTORY!

Technical Courses Here Aid Industry

Free War Training Classes Conducted Here Help To Speed Up Production

Local war industries, in their efforts to speed up production, are being helped by the Pennsylvania State College and Carnegie Tech through Westminster College which are offering free war training courses under the United States Office of Education. Registration for them will be held October 5, 6, and 7 from 7 to 10 a.m. at New Castle high school.

Among the courses to be offered to train men and women for technical jobs—each course providing training for a specific job—are job analysis and wage systems, fundamentals of electrical engineering and industrial electricity.

Job analysis and wage systems provides training for work in job analysis, hour setting, and maintaining and reimbursing the production personnel. The requirement for enrollment in this course, is completion of the production control course or its equivalent. Instruction is given in job analysis procedure, job evaluation and grading, wage classification, promotion and transfer, training and merit rating.

Fundamentals of electrical engineering provides a fundamental knowledge of direct current and alternating current theory with some knowledge of industrial applications and requires an understanding of the principles of trigonometry and physics, such as is given in a high school education. The fundamentals of electricity and matter, including such as voltage, current and resistance, work, power and energy, etc. are studied.

Industrial electricity trains men and women for jobs as technicians or assistants in technical work for design, construction, installation, operation or maintenance of electric motors, generators or transformers or to upgrade persons now employed in such work.

Completion of the fundamentals of electrical engineering course or a background of similar experience will qualify a person for this course. Instruction is given in the fundamental theory of electricity and magnetism, application of this theory in D.C. and A.C. circuits and related fields.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A Japanese "student" who was found wading through a copy of "Mein Kampf" was among 19 persons who were in federal custody today following a roundup by the FBI in the New York area.

The group included 16 Germans, five of them women, one Italian and another Japanese, all aliens. Among the Germans, FBI officials said, was a former power-plant draftsman who had photographs of the plant's switchboard and generator.

EYE REJECTIONS

(International News Service)

KEESLER FIELD, Miss.—Better take care of those eyes if you desire enlistment as a candidate in any of the army's special schools. Major George A. Teeth, on the other hand, which usually cause the most pre-examination worry, are responsible for the fewest failures.

Army, Navy Enlistments Give October Good Start

Large squads of additional army and navy recruits who joined at recruiting offices in the Post Office building here today gave both service headquarters impressive first-of-the-month openings.

The Marines had 104 inquiries during September but, because September was a "limited" month so far as recruiting goes, there were only 22 enlistments.

Staff Sergt. John L. Dean of the Marines stressed that October is an "unlimited" month and that boys will begin signing up this afternoon. In fact, the Marines have a large group of new recruits ready to send to Pittsburgh within the next few days.

Enlistments today in the army and navy were announced by Chief Army Recruiter Sergt. John T. Bilpuch and Chief Navy Recruiter D. C. Ritchie as follows:

Matthew C. Pilzys, 17 W. Charter street, son of Mrs. Mary Pilzys. Joined the Air Corps.

Paul C. Bara, 1601 Hanna street, son of Mrs. Anna Bara. The Air Corps.

Afterwards the groups went for a tour of the building, and later gathered in the auditorium for reports of each group. The program closed with the singing of "Follow the Gleam".

Here's How 4,869 Workers Will Travel When Tires Go

Just how will one-third of the New Castle district's industrial plant workers get to and from work when a tire crisis begins to develop in, as the average worker estimates, about eight months?

Of 4,869 filling in questionnaires of the New Castle War Transportation committee, just 13 will depend upon bicycles.

Public motor coaches, which today inaugurated their city-wide "skip-stop" operation to save tire wear, will be depended upon by 2,580—today only 965 are depending upon them.

A total of 1,893 say they'll walk back and forth, 22 will go by train, 115 will ride in "another automobile" and 246 just have no idea how they'll get back and forth.

The War Transportation committee is surveying employes of all district plants, and urging them to organize "share-the-car" clubs.

WARDENS TO MEET

Air raid wardens of the second precinct, fifth ward, will meet in Alderman Samuel Bassano's office, South Mill street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Ladies Help Farmers To Gather In Winter Crops

With husbands, fathers, sons and brothers being rapidly inducted into Uncle Sam's army, navy and marine forces to beat the Axis, the women are stepping into their shoes. Not only do they answer the call as machinists, welders and other types of jobs, but they have proven efficient in aiding the man of the soil—the FARMER.

It is not only true in large cities, but right here in New Castle's own community. Farmers who have successfully raised their quota of vegetables, fruits and other crops, relate it is almost a thing of the past to get the necessary help to gather in the crops.

A group of local women (all housewives) heard of such circumstances, and if you wish to do a bit of scouting, you will find the ladies garbed in slacks and the husbands' trousers if you please, picking fruit on a nearby farm, at arms length and from ladders.

They volunteered and are glad to do it. The home front is as important as the war front in these times of sacrifice. The wife of the farmer tells the reporter that the "ladies have done a fine job, efficiently and conscientiously, they have worked all day long and accomplished a great amount of work. There are a lot of farmers in need of help, just as we do, and if everyone would cooperate and give some of their time it would help tremendously. If we want apple pies and applesauce this winter, we have to see to it now, by getting in the crops. And with such a fine spirit shown by this group of women on our farm here today, we are bound to win this war."

Schools and colleges are adopting the system of excusing students a half a day to aid the farmer in getting in his crops before damaged by weather conditions.

If at such times you, like so many women and girls suffer from cramps, headaches, backache, distress of "irregularities", periods of the blues—due to functional monthly disturbances—

Start at once—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound TABLETS (with added Iron). They not only help relieve monthly pain but also accompanying tired, weak, nervous feelings of this nature. This is because of their soothing effect on ONE OF WOMAN'S MOST IMPORTANT ORGANS.

RISING SUN SINKS IN PACIFIC

Smoke blurs the insignia of the Rising Sun on this four-motored Japanese bomber as it falls into the Pacific after being mortally hit by gun fire from a Flying Fortress during an encounter in the South Pacific. (Seventh Air Force Photo)

First of Its Kind

The first American ship to be named after a colored man, the Booker T. Washington, 10-500-ton Liberty vessel, moves down the ways at Wilmington, Cal., after being christened by the noted Negro contralto, Marion Anderson. The only Negro in the U. S. to have a master's license will command her.

IF XMAS GIFT IS GOING OVERSEAS, BUY IT NOW

If you want your Christmas gift to reach that boy in overseas service by December 25th, you'd better soon get it in the mail, warns the War Department. To help with our shopping, Greta Christensen of the Chicago Merchandise Mart, shows us a selection of articles known to be high on the list of a serviceman's wants. Included are a money bag, pen and pencil set, sewing kit, duffle bag for miscellaneous toilet articles, cigarets and cigaret cases and a waterproof watch. To save precious cargo space, packages should not be over six pounds and be no longer than a shoe box.

This Is Where the Scrap Goes

This is one of the steps that scrap metal goes through before it is salvaged and made into new guns and shells. An overhead magnet in a steel mill scrap yard is shown as it picks scrap from a freight car and deposits it in a loader which carries it to an open hearth furnace. Approximately 50 per cent. of the scrap steel collected for salvage is used in open hearth production. (Central Press)

ORCHIDS BRING $16,000 FOR BONDS

When Actress Paulette Goddard put her orchids up for sale at a Philadelphia war bond auction, the bid started at $25 and didn't end until Mrs. Hobson Reynolds, Negress, boosted the ante by pledging $16,000. Actor Bill Gargan watches Paulette congratulate the high bidder.

Ban All Football

Abolish football until the end of the war and fire all football coaches. That's what Richard J. Beamish, Pennsylvania public utility commissioner, urges to halt transportation abuses. Beamish, a former football coach at St. Thomas college, now Scranton university, said that school boards and college authorities "are derelict in their duty when they permit the silly business of football to prevent basic wartime training." Beamish termed the Camden, N. J., racetrack "a disgrace to the state of New Jersey."

AXIS SUB HAS TANKER GOING, BUT NOT GONE

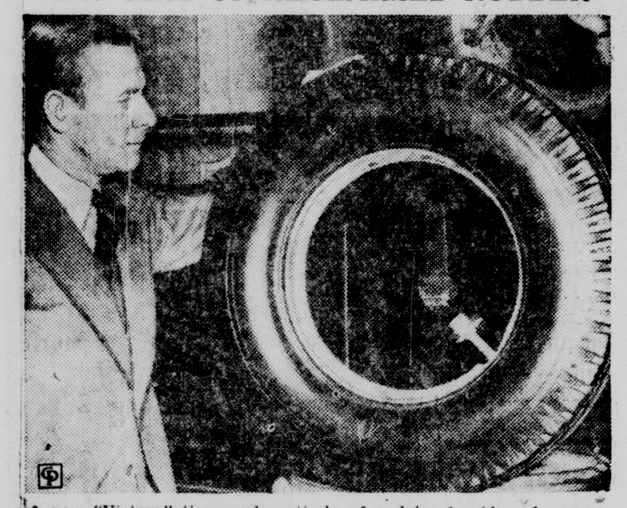

Although a torpedo from a marauding Axis submarine in the Atlantic set this United Nations tanker afire, quick action by salvage crews prevented its sinking. Smoke indicates where torpedo struck and fired a fuel compartment. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

EVEN THE DEAD CONTRIBUTE SCRAP

Ornamental metal objects in the Greenwood cemetery, New York City, are being collected by workmen, above, to be contributed to the scrap metal drive. Other cemeteries in the country also are tearing up metal ornaments to be remelted for use in war materials.

NEW TIRE OF RECLAIMED RUBBER

A new "Victory" tire, made entirely of reclaimed rubber, for passenger automobiles is examined above by Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, Akron, O. The government is expected to allow this type of tire to be used for essential civilian driving needs.

She Seeks Divorce

GLASS WAS NEVER LIKE THIS!

Newsreel cameramen photograph the action of the 25-pound weight bouncing off a sheet of newly-perfected aviation safety plate glass at the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company at Toledo, O. Besides successfully resisting the impact of the weight which fell 32 feet, machine gun bullets aimed point blank at the sheet glanced off in a later test.

Mystery Solved

The five-year-old girl found wandering in New York's Grand Central station and not identified for a week, is revealed to be Gertrude Miller, seen above with her mother, Ruth Miller Gootkin, 22, who claimed the child after newspaper stories reached her attention. It was stated by the girl's grandfather that Gertrude was abandoned by her parents because they felt she would get "better care" at the hands of authorities.

Protesting Gandhi's Arrest

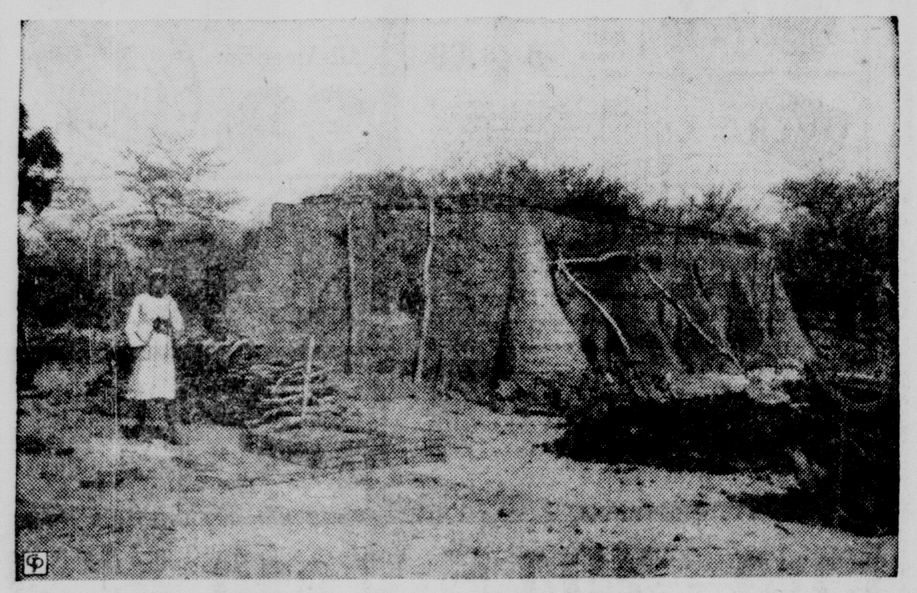

When a crowd collected in Bombay, India to protest the arrest of Mohandas Gandhi, police had to use tear gas to break up the demonstration. Some of the Indians who gathered to listen to the speeches of protest were lying down when the meeting began, but were finally forced to clear away when the gas was used. (Central Press)

Jap Base Burns in Solomons After U. S. Attack

A U. S. destroyer moves in close to a burning Jap military installation in the Solomons to finish it off after it had been bombed by American airmen. NATIVE MASONS BUILD BASES FOR U. S. IN AFRICA

Along Uncle Sam's aerial supply route across Africa to the Middle East, native masons dressed in turbans and long white robes are helping in the construction of air bases. In this picture, a native stands beside a home-made kiln with which Pan-American engineers bake brick to build foundations. The picture was taken somewhere in Africa.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING!

Just to prove that there can be such a thing as too much wheat, here is a photo of a grain elevator at Kiowa, Kan., which was so well filled with the golden grain that the sides split, spilling 7,000 bushels of wheat over the railroad tracks. A record crop, coupled with transportation difficulties, has taxed Kansas' storage facilities.

Salamander May Provide Scrap Metal

Mayor Believes Huge Quanity Of Iron Could Be Salvaged

SALAMANDER USED FOR RETAINING WALL

Lawrence county can win an "E" for salvage collection should the proper salvage officials arrange for the possible reclamation of an immense quantity of salamander which it is believed contains 30 per cent or more of iron.

This was the opinion of persons who visited the salamander pile yesterday after Mayor Charles B. Mayne said he knew the location of thousands of tons of it. He said an effort to interest a prominent salvage official, not local, apparently was futile.

The Mayor asserted that he has watched the deposit of the salamander over several score years, some chunks of which probably weigh as much as several thousand pounds. It was used to stop the Neshannock creek from overflowing when the creek contained dams and ice gorges occurred.

No Interest Shown

The city's chief executive decried the fact that, with the nation crying for scrap, apparently nothing has come of his attempt to call the abundancy of the salamander here to their attention.

The Mayor did not deny that it may be necessary for the Federal government to arrange with the P. R. R. (W. N. Y. & P.) for the deal, but believes, in these days of the Axis trying to beat down the world, a deal might be made to this country's advantage.

According to His Honor he has, over a long period of years, watched steel operations here, and reports that the salamander came from the bottom of the furnaces. If it can be used, he believes it should be reclaimed.

As the huge chunks were removed they were transported to the east side of the Neshannock creek embankment to prevent flooding because of dams and ice gorges. He firmly believes the salamander, which also looks like so many huge stones in the creek, can be used.

If the officials determine that the salamander can be reclaimed, there would be no difficulty removing it with a crane and dumping it into a railroad car.

The salamander the Mayor refers to is on the east side of the Neshannock creek south of the paper mill bridge, and forms the embankment for approximately a quarter mile.

ROSE AVENUE MEETING

A membership drive was planned by members of the Rose Avenue Parent-Teachers Association when they met for their initial fall event at the school on Tuesday evening.

The event was in the form of a reception honoring their Principal Cornelius, and their new secretary, Betty Spangler, and new mothers of the organization. Introductions were made made in semi-circle fashion, and a "get acquainted" period featured the informal occasion.

Light refreshments were served at an appropriate hour, with Mrs. Fred Thompson, chairman, and her aides in charge.

Reporter Dies In Philadelphia

J. Huston McCollough, Well-Known Political Reporter Dies At Age Of 40

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Funeral services were being arranged today for J. Huston McCollough, well-known political reporter, who collapsed Wednesday in the office of Joseph Pew, Jr., prominent Republican and vice president of the Sun Oil company.

At the time of his death yesterday—at the age of 40—he was employed by the Philadelphia Bulletin, although his by-line was more familiar to readers of the now-defunct Evening Ledger, for which he reported state and local politics for nearly a decade. His father, Austin E. McCollough, is managing editor of the Lancaster Intelligencer Journal and a former Democratic state committee chairman.

STALINGRAD IS URGED TO MAKE HITLER ANSWER

Stalin is maintaining daily contact with the city by telephone and is directing its defense from the Kremlin.)

Stalin's command was telephoned to Alexander Chuianov, local secretary of the Communist party at Stalingrad, named for the premier because of his part in defending the city during the Red revolution.

"Stalin telephoned, telling us we must fight panic mongers," Chuianov said.

Answer To Hitler

The Soviet premier's order was viewed as a direct answer to Adolf Hitler who yesterday promised the German people that his Nazi hordes would take the important industrial center.

After issuing the "stand firm" message Stalin urged that party leaders take precautions against fifth column attempts to stir up panic within the city.

While Russian pressure against the German flank north of the city was said to be increasing, front line dispatches said that Soviet forces south of the besieged city had ousted German and Rumanian forces from three settlements.

Frustrate Nazi Move

Inside the city a German attempt to seize control of a dominating height from which Russian reinforcements streaming across the Volga could be shelled was frustrated.

The high command conceded, however, that the Nazis had gained new ground at one point on the northwest outskirts.

The Red army's noon communique said that throughout last night fierce fighting continued in the Stalingrad area with local Soviet successes being scored in the northwest and southwest."

Several fresh Nazi attacks northwest of the city were said by the high command to have been repelled.

Repulse Attacks

Southeast of the fallen Black sea naval base of Novorossisk the Soviets repulsed numerous German attacks, the communique said. On another sector of this front, it was acknowledged the Nazis succeeded in driving a wedge into Soviet positions. Fighting against these German units was said to be continuing.

The strategic height at Stalingrad was saved by the Russians after a furious battle which crushed Nazi resistance and drove the invaders back a safe distance, according to the high command.

TILL HITLER'S FUNERAL

(International News Service)

MATTOON, Ill., Oct. 1.—Accepted for service in the army, Herbert Spaulding placed this sign on his lunch room and grocery:

"Closed until after Hitler's funeral."

To young authors: The kind of story doesn't matter; it will sell if the scene is a Florida swamp.

Apple Growers Need Aid Now

Huge Crop Of Apples In County Must Be Harvested In Short Time

CITY MEN PLAN TO HELP PICKING

This is a banner year for apples in Lawrence county. Trees are bending under the load, baskets are waiting to be filled but following the Biblical quotation "the harvest truly is plenteous but the laborers are few".

Apple growers in the county are worried. As an example, Lauren Thompson of New Wilmington has about 5000 bushels of apples to be picked and only a couple of pickers available.

J. Lepere Mathews, president of the Greater New Castle Association, and Attorney J. Glenn Berry not only have an idea about the matter but on Sunday they are going to put the idea into practice.

Mr. Mathews and Mr. Berry are offering their services to Mr. Thompson on Sunday as apple pickers and they are asking for recruits to go along and harvest some of the crop. Anybody who wants to help out in a precarious situation will be welcome to go along with the two men. A telephone call to either of them is all you need to do to enlist.

There are many thousands of bushels of apples on the trees in the county. They won't pick themselves and losing them will be a loss to the growers and to the public.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away," so the old axiom says. Here's a chance to keep the doctors away for a long time. And maybe a few doctors would like to go along.

Child Forgiven For Shooting Brother

Ten-Year-Old Returns Home To Ask Parents' Forgiveness For Accidental Shooting

(International News Service)

RARITAN TOWNSHIP, N. J., Oct. 1.—Ten-year-old Dennis Reed who accidentally shot and killed his brother Kenneth, 13, and then fled in panic, returned to his home today and received the forgiveness of his parents.

The heart-broken youngster, weary from 12 hours of wandering and meditating upon the unfortunate shooting, said as he stumbled into his home that he had returned "to get what is coming to me". His grieved parents who had instituted a search of nearby woods threw their arms around the boy and embraced him tenderly.

Authorities indicated that no charges would be filed against him as a result of the shooting which, all agreed, was accidental.

The boys were shooting at a target in the backyard of their home with a .22 calibre rifle when the accident occurred.

American Soldier Killed In Ireland

(International News Service)

BELFAST, Oct. 1.—One American soldier died from knife wounds and another was seriously hurt during a disturbance on the streets of Antrim, a communique issued today by United States Army headquarters in northern Ireland disclosed.

"There was a disturbance in the streets of Antrim last night involving United States military police and soldiers," the communique said.

"Several shots were fired before the disorder ended.

"One soldier was killed by knife wounds and another soldier was seriously wounded. No civilians were involved."

WOMAN EMBEZZLER AWAITS SENTENCE

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 1.—Madelyn Mack Miller, Clarion, a former assistant to the receiver of the closed First National bank at Clarion, awaited sentence today after pleading guilty before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to eight counts of embezzling bank funds.

The woman specifically was charged with embezzling $2,400. However, the statute limitations prevented the government from entering additional embezzlement charges. She was assisting the receiver in liquidating bank affairs.

SUGGEST BULLETS BE MADE IN SPARE TIME

Series Opener Rivals Movies As Yanks Win

St. Louis Ninth Inning Uprising Falls Short As Cards Lose, 7-4

RUFFING IS CHASED AFTER SETTING MARK

Johnny Beazley, 21, And Ernie Bonham, 27, Today's Twirlnig Choices

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—"That ninth inning was just what the club needed. It gave them the smell of blood and woke 'em up. I think they'll play much better ball the rest of the way."

That was about all Manager Billy Southworth would say about yesterday's opening game of the 1942 world series which started out as a pitcher's dream—and almost became a manager's nightmare!

Get Bad Scare

The New York Yankees, despite a bad scare in the ninth inning in which the St. Louis Cards scored all their four runs, today boasted a 7-4 win over the National league champions and were counting on big Ernie Bonham to make it two straight and lessen their chance of having to make the long return trip here if the series should go six games.

Southworth has stuck to his original selection, young Johnny Beazley, and folks, it is really up to the kid. If the 21-year-old freshman wonder can't even up the series it will probably follow the form the majority of the experts predicted and end very quickly — possibly in four straight games.

So the Red Birds are counting on Johnny Beazley, with 21 victories and 6 defeats to his credit during the regular National league season. He doesn't figure to be awed by the world champions, though he is literally "Johnny-on-the-spot." The kid has amazing self-confidence and control and can prove the saviour or the executioner of his mates.

Up To Beazley

If Beazley gets knocked out of the box today, or even if he loses a tough ball game, we think St. Louis will fold up. But, if, as Southworth says, the team has been inspired by that wild ninth inning with which they turned a rout into a near-riot, and beats Bonham, the series should be a battle royal—and lock the children in the air raid shelters the rest of the way!

For if ever in the history of the series—or of baseball—there was a job of face-saving, and face-lifting, the ninth inning of yesterday's inaugural was it. Blanked for seven and two-thirds innings without a hit, the Cards looked like a hospital case going somewhere to collapse.

Ruffing's performance, which broke the old record of seven and one-third hitless innings established by Herb Pennock, also a Yank, in 1927, was spoiled with two away in the eighth when Terry Moore, Card captain lined a clean single to right. Red retired the side, but in the ninth inning, disappointed, tired and anxious to get it over with, the Ruff grew careless, was knocked out of the box and had to watch Spud Chandler salvage his masterpiece.

Thanks to three hits by Joe DiMaggio, a single and a double by First Baseman Buddy Hassett and four Card errors, one by Slaughter and two by Lanier in the eighth and ninth inning respectively, the Yankees were handed the ball game.

Slaughter's two-base muff of Ruffing's drive allowed two unearned runs in the eighth and Lanier's wild heave of a bunt by Cullenbine, plus a case of the blind staggers when he dropped a return toss from First Baseman Johnny Hopp, let in two more in the ninth.

Thus the scoreboard read 7-0 for the Yankees and the 34,385 citizens who had provided a total gate of $151,797 were beginning to trickle disgustedly through the exits when the dam broke in the last half of that inning.

With two out and W. Cooper on first, Sanders batted for Kurowski and walked. Marion scored the boys with a triple to the rightfield corner and came in himself on pinch-hitter O'Dea's single.

Chase Ruffing

Playing the string right out to the end, Manager Southworth sent in Crespi to run for O'Dea. Jimmy Brown singled and Manager McCarthy decided Ruffing needed a rest and called in Spud Chandler.

Spud was greeted with a single by Captain Moore, scoring Crespi. Then Slaughter kept the pressure on and set the fans screaming like mad men by beating out a hit to Rizzuto at short to fill the bases.

Stan Musial, another kid in his first series, could have been elected governor of the state by acclamation had he come through with one of his famous clutch homers. It would have given the Cardinals the ball game.

But Stan had left his rabbit's foot in the dugout and the best he could do was a grounder to Hassett. The latter tossed to Chandler who covered first and the ball game was all over.

That one rally, however, showed St. Louis could get tough when given a break.

A photographer trained his camera on Leo Durocher, manager of Brooklyn's 'Bums,' who was seated in a box near the Cardinal dugout. He said, "Mr. Durocher smile, please, like you were sitting on the Brooklyn bench." "How," asked Leo glumly, "could I smile if I were sitting on the bench?"

Titans Pointing For Tech Game

Annual Battle Will Be Played At Taggart Stadium, Saturday At 2:30

LOCALITES FEAR PASSING ATTACK

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 1.—Westminster gridders are certain to be on the watch for the Carnegie Tech passing attack combination of Cantini and Carnahan, when the Titans meet the Tartans in Taggart stadium, New Castle, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Titans don't have to be warned of the potential scoring threat facing them with the ball in the hands of the veteran passheaver Cantini and a good receiver in the clear—they know that from last year's game.

Coach Grover Washabaugh has been stressing pass defense tactics in practice sessions this week in preparation for an expected Tartan aerial offensive. Despite the Skibos' poor showing against Geneva last week, the Titan coach has impressed upon his men the fact that Tech is "definitely strong", and "much better" than the team Westminster defeated last year in Pitt stadium.

Pointing for Game

With a record of one game won and one lost so far, Blue and White gridders are pointing toward the Carnegie Tech game as "the one game" they must win this year.

"Dashing" Dick Newton, Ellwood City junior, whose 85-yard touchdown run was the standout of last year's contest, will probably start in the fullback position Saturday.

Moose Players Prepare For Game

Manager "Fiz" Rodenbaugh today announced that the Moose baseball team, which starts its City Baseball league championship series with Ellwood City Sunday on Marshall field, will practice tonight at 6 o'clock on Marshall field.

The Moose plays hosts to the Ellwoodians in a twin bill starting at 1:30 o'clock.

PUT UP BEEF

NEW YORK—Hal Schumacher of the New York Giants and Johnny Podgajny of the Philadelphia Phils are two of the toughest pitchers in the National league to take out of the box. Both argue with managers to allow them to continue.

In addition many experts thought Whitey pulled a "skull" in the fifth. With Rolfe on third and Cullenbine on second, DiMaggio drove a hot grounder to Whitey.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Scratched out while dialing the series:

Mention of the crowd on hand at Sportsman's park reminds me that New Castle high is jammed with box office umph. Last week the "Canes" smashed the local attendance record by playing before 10,120 pew holders.

What do you thing is going to happen tomorrow night? Our boys may shatter the attendance established by Massillon high back in 1938. The Ohio Tigers unleashed their deception in the presence of 7,500 fans.

A Sharon scribbling companion, in commenting about the crowd expected at Sharon says: "The largest crowd in the history of Sharon football definitely is assured." At least 9,000 spectators are anticipated.

Elkins Brothers, injured in the opening New Castle game, quit his crutches about a week ago and confidently expects to join his "Hurricane" mates within the next two weeks.

Seems to me that most writers forgot to make mention of the fact that Clark "Cinderella Man" Shaughnessy got off to a bright start. His T-minded Maryland boys slaughtered Connecticut 34-0.

Bernie Bierman runs into a funny predicament this Saturday. As coach of Iowa's Cadets, he'll send his eleven against Minnesota, his former pupils. He'll be out to crack the Gophers' 18-game string, 17 of which he built up in the past two seasons!

Ernie Lombardi, National league batting champion again, has failed to hit below .300 only three times in his baseball career....As the strains of National anthem filled the air and the ump blared out "Play Ball!" bet the Dodgers must have felt like the unhappiest guys in the world.

Billy Southworth Gets '43 Contract

Cardinal Manager Is Rewarded On Heels Of Yanks' 7-4 Triumph

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1—Manager Billy Southworth, the aggressive and popular pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, 1942 National league champions, looked forward today to another season at the helm of the team he has developed into the youngest contenders in world series history.

Billy was resigned last night to pilot the Cards in the 1943 pennant race. The announcement was made by President Sam Breadon of the Cards shortly after St. Louis dropped the first game to the Yankees.

No salary figures were announced. Billy came to St. Louis to replace Ray Blades as pilot in June, 1940. Last year his club finished second and this year won him his first pennant here.

MUST REPLACE PESKY

The Red Sox will have another new shortstop for 1943. John Pesky, who was one of the majors' best rookies this year, is in service. The club has bought Eddie Lake from Sacramento.

Whitey Kurowski of the Cards proved little better . The White one struck out the first three times up then actually waited Ruffing out and drew a walk on his final attempt.

Grid Nuggets

(International News Service)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 1—Coach Bo McMillin expressed fears today that Chuck Jacoby, fast Indiana wingback, may not be able to play against Ohio State Saturday because his leg injury has not responded to treatment. Billy Hillenbrand, left half who directs the Hoosier offense, will be able to play with the aid of a hockey type elbow pad.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Skull practice on upsets to combat overconfidence was stressed by Coach Fritz Crisler today as he put the Michigan Wolverines through their final workout for the week-end battle against Michigan State. The Wolverines held a long passing drill yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA — Dick Martin, veteran blocking back, today seemed assured of the quarterback post in the starting lineup when Penn meets Harvard at Cambridge Saturday. Coach George Munger indicated he was satisfied with Martin's performance yesterday in the final scrimmage of the week.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Luke Higgins, 210-pound sophomore, held down the right tackle berth on the Notre Dame team today, replacing the injured Bob Neff. It still was doubtful whether Jerry Cowhig, injured fullback, will be able to play in the Georgia Tech game Saturday.

LOSING COMPLEX

Hickory played 98 games in the North Carolina State league—and lost 80 of them.

Ruffing Breaks Pitching Record In Opener

Red Ruffing of the Yanks set a new pitching record as he takes his seventh world series win by defeating the Cards in the opener at St. Louis, 7-4. He is seen in action during the third inning, being picked off second by a throw from Catcher Walker Cooper to Marty Marion after he had singled and gone to second on Rizzuto's walk. Top photo shows record crowd that packed Sportsmans park.

'Cane Gridders Omit Scrimmage

To Safeguard Against Injuries, Bridenbaugh Orders Long Passing Drill

CURRIE MAY MISS GAME WITH SHARON

To safeguard against further injuries, Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh yesterday pointed his thumbs down on the customary Wednesday scrimmage and ordered a long passing drill as New Castle high resumed practice for Friday's owl tussle with Sharon high at Sharon.

When the unbeaten and untied "Canes" spread out for the kickoff at 8:30 o'clock, Russ "Ranger" Currie, who has played a starring role in the first three victories, may not be stationed in his right half post. The handsome athlete, who injured his left knee in the Falls' skirmish, hasn't worn grid raiment this week.

Taking Heat Treatment

Currie has been parking the knee underneath a large lighted bulb. While improvement is reported, Coach Bridenbaugh fears that the knee won't be in playing condition by game time.

His place may be taken by Ted Lash. Bobby Lee will occupy the left halfback post with Jesse Gunn at fullback and Pete Tedesko in the quarterback blocking station.

The line, which played magnificently against Beaver Falls, figures to perform an important part in the tussle. John Zubkowsky, who is still performing with the aid of a brace on his left elbow, and Harvey Burris, will get the end assignments.

Mike Roussos and Tom Sanfilippo are carded for tackle berths. Joe Joseph and Tony Razzano will fill in their usual guard posts and Dave Genkinger will bend over the pigskin.

Locals Prepared

The localites' offensive attack is expected to be identical to that employed in the first three clashes. In the event that a variation is needed, the Castles will be prepared to "throw the book" at the Mercer countians.

The neighboring eleven is "up" for the setto. Undefeated, but tied twice thus far, the orange and black horde will try everything at its command to dinge the 'Cane perfect slate. The Sharon squad is comprised of many hands which saw action as the locals punched across a 19-0 victory last season.

Shorts, Ciccone, Miller, Monson, Gross and Beharry were in the last scuffle. A year older and a year wiser, the visiting gridsmen are bound to be tougher. Stratter is the team's Bob Feller. They say he tosses a mean football.

Tomorrow's meeting will be the 23rd between the opponents. In the series, New Castle won 14, lost 4 and tied 4 times.

Following a light drill under the Taggart stadium lights tonight, the 'Cane squad will scurry for their beds. The party will leave for the battlescene from the Y. M. C. A. at 6 o'clock, making the journey in private cars.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today disclosed that Sharon expects the biggest crowd in its history. Because of this, Gardner urges local fans to purchase their tickets here at The Sporting Goods Store, if they contemplate witnessing the setto.

Hanlon Outlines Routes To Sharon

Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary and manager of the New Castle Motor club, today outlined the following route to Sharon as a help to local fans who contemplate driving to Sharon for tomorrow's game:

Route 18 to New Wilmington, turn right at hotel. At first intersection turn left and follow road marked detour to Sharon-Mercer road, left on 62 to Sharon.

The other route:

Start on 18 from New Castle to New Wilmington, left on 18 and on 278 to Pulaski, right on 551 to West Middlesex to route 18. At intersection on route 62 turn left on 62 to Sharon.

Bessemer Battles Lowellville Friday

Union At Evans City Tonight; Shenango Jaunts To Hopewell Tomorrow

LOCAL GRID ENGINES FACE BUSY WEEK-END

Local football engines will participate in one of the biggest gridiron parties of the season during the next couple of days.

The card shows six scuffles involving county teams. While two of the squads will get their action away from home, three of the settos here should unpack enough thrills to satisfy the gallery.

Union Township high heads the parade by battling Evans City high under the lights at Evans City, Pa., tonight. On the losing end twice, the Scotland Laners enter the conflict with high spirits.

Friday Games

Friday's schedule sends three machines on the gridirons. One of the feature engagements pits New Castle high's unbeaten squad against Sharon high at Sharon, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Shenango Township, batting .500 as a result of one win against a lone loss, journeys to face Hopewell high. The East New Castle forces displayed marked improvement in walloping Zellenople high and answers the kickoff whistle confident of scoring a triumph.

In the top local matinee fracas, Bessemer high meets its arch rival, Lowellville, O., high, at Bessemer at 3:30 o'clock.

The "Cement City" eleven startled the district pigskin circles by dumping Greenville and then turning around to tie Class AA Erie East, 6-6.

Paced by Jack "Rabbit" Grubisa, who trucks along the turf like Whirlaway, and Miller, a small but devastating fullback, the localites appear to be heading toward another successful season. Bessemer's line rates a flock of hosannahs for its effectiveness.

By the time the rivals line up, the sidelines are expected to be jammed.

On Lincoln field, Ellwood City, Ellwood City high's rugged eleven plays the role of host to Butler high. Its slate dented by Rochester last week, the county "Wolverines" are determined to lift their grid wagon on victory highway again.

Saturday Game

Collegiate football comes to New Castle Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Westminster college billed to tussle with Carnegie Tech at Taggart stadium. While both teams have received a setback, the tilt still looms as one of the top attractions in the district.

Series Capsules

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—World series capsules:

Sixteen strikeouts were registered during the two hour and 35-minute inaugural game. Ruffing had eight, Cooper seven and Lanier one.

The Yankee victory made it six straight years in which the American league entry captured the first game. Ruffing won four of the six, having beaten the Chicago Cubs in '38, the Cincinnati Reds in '39, the Brooklyn Dodgers in '41 and St. Louis this time.

Red, whose win yesterday established a new record of one pitcher having captured seven series games, may have a chance to add to it. If the series goes six games, Red undoubtedly will get another chack at Manager Southworth's slaves.

Usually Win First

The Yanks also have a habit of winning the first one. Yesterday's was their 10th first-game victory in 13 series. They dropped only the '22, '23 and '36 inaugurals—all to the Giants!

The 11 runs counted yesterday was the highest scored in an opening game since the Cards beat Detroit 8-3 in 1934.

A review of the box score showed two distinct form flops by highly regarded players. Most unusual was the performance at the plate of Joe Gordon, hitting star of the 1941 series and one of the big clubbers on the Yankees.

Joe grounded out the first time up yesterday. He struck out on three other trips, twice with futile motions after low and outside pitches, and also lifted a pop fly to Hopp near the pitcher's box.

FAIR or FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Up in Tacoma, Wash., there is a man who would give some of the best years of his life to be in either outfield as the New York Yankees bare their teeth with customary gentility and tangle up with the St. Louis Cardinals in the world series.

But the trouble is, this man, Bob Johnson, has made the mistake of giving the best years of his life to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Nobody in baseball is more bitter today than he.

Few have been more thoroughly fettered by the mediocrity of his roundings than the outfielder whose misfortune it was to land with the Athletics instead of with a more able and progressive club.

Good, Hustling Player

He could take up a position in the picket lines with either the Yanks or the Cardinals and be welcomed. He is a good, tough, hustling ballplayer who silently has suffered through the indignities of servitude with the A's through all these years until now.

When he popped off a day or two ago, it must have been the bleat of a man stung by the frustration of it all and determined to have his one little say at a time like this when some who must be his baseball inferiors are engaged in the world series while he is an onlooker from far away Tacoma, Wash.

He announced a few days ago that he was through with baseball, if the A's wouldn't sell him or trade him off for next season, and Connie Mack replied that Johnson would stay with the A's or else.

The "or else" is a baseball officials' prerogative in his dealings with baseball chattels. It means they play for him because he has their contract, or they get out of baseball.

As a matter of human decency it would seem that Connie Mack would let Bob Johnson go elsewhere and receive the money and plaudits he deserves. It seems that the old gent would say in times like these that any ball player as good as Bob Johnson deserved a better fate than continued humiliation with the Athletics.

That is all right for the majority of the players Mr. Mack has gathered about him for peon salaries of late. They are bushers content to land anywhere so long as it is in the majors. But Bob Johnson is a standout, and it must be every bit as distressing as he indicates to go on from day to day with the Athletics.

A's Get Worse

Bob Johnson cannot possibly be of much use to Mr. Mack. The Athletics get worse and worse each year under guidance that seemingly has lost its mastery, and Mr. Mack should be content to go along with his nonentities and let the likes of Bob Johnson strike out for himself.

Bob Johnson has been with the Athletics 10 long, wear, soul-searing years, often hitting above .300, always commanding the respect of his fellows, but also dragged down by the terrible fate that made him a member of the Athletics.

When he says he will quit baseball before he will go back to the Athletics, I think this is further argument for some kind of a baseball court which will enable capable players to plead their cases and shed such bondage as this which grips a fine athlete.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

There will be a Cotton bowl game January 1 at Dallas. Directors of the association decided there are enough fans in Dallas to keep football alive despite gas rationing.

A marked increase in hunting license sales has been noted in major defense areas, particularly Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Harrisburg sections, according to the State Game commission.

QUARTET MISSING

Four men who started against Pitt in 1940 are on the current S. M. U. starting team. They are Kelly Simpson at end; Orville Johnson at guard; Clarence Dean at tackle, and Hardy Miller at wingback.

ALIBI BACKFIRES

Altho Joe McCarthy's announced reason for letting Babe Dahlgren go was short arms, Babe's arms, by actual measurement, are four inches longer than those of Buddy Hassett, who now covers first for the Yanks.

PRICE RATE

Iowa will admit all non-commissioned soldiers and sailors to football games for 50 cents, but officers must pay the regular price.

CREDITS STEPHENS

Connie Mack credits Junior Stephens, rookie shortstop, for bringing the Browns out of the baseball doldrums.

State Holds Weight Edge Over Bucknell

Aldo Cenci, State Blocker, Weight 230; Higgins' Backs Hefty

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 1.—Penn State will hold a slight weight advantage over Bucknell Saturday, when the two central Pennsylvania teams meet in the 32nd renewal of a traditional series, dating back to 1887.

The Nittany Lion starting eleven, which Coach Bob Higgins has been grooming since pre-season practice began, averages 190 pounds in both the line and backfield.

For the Bisons, Coach Al Humphreys will likely start a line averaging only one pound less than that of the Lions, while the Thundering Herd backfield will be at least 10 pounds lighter, depending on the four men the Bucknell mentor chooses.

State Hefty

State will have three starters Saturday who go over 200 pounds Mike Kerns and Ken Schoonover, the two Nittany senior tackles, go 220 and 205 respectively, while Aldo Cenci, State's giant junior blocking back, will be the biggest man on the field at 230.

Only Tom Rodgers, junior tackle, will go over 200 for the Bisons. Rodgers hits 215, and the next heaviest Herd starter will be the other tackle, junior Walter Szot, at 195.

Coach Higgins' starting backfield will be one of the heaviest to play for the Lions in some time. Wingback Cliff St. Clair, the only sophomore on the eleven, is also the lightest, at 165. Sparky Brown, senior tailback, goes 175, and junior fullback Jack Banbury is 190. Cenci pulls up the Nittany quartet considerably.

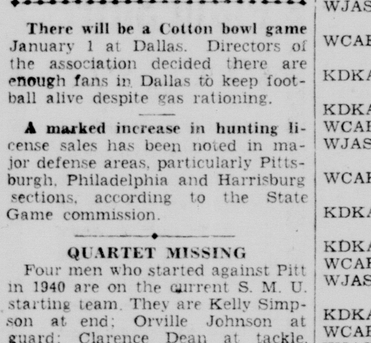

Elting Johnson, at 190, is the heaviest Bucknell back, with wingback Al Magagna and quarterback Chet Podd both at 180. If Don Nesselbush, 160-pound sophomore, starts, the Bucknell backfield will be lighter, but Coach Humphreys may call on Paul McConnell, another sophomore, who weighs 170.

FAVORS ENGINEERING

Pat Lyons, Wisconsin end, has quit the grid to devote more time to his engineering studies.

Kurowski simply tagged Cullenbine out on the base line, allowing Rolfe to score and DiMaggio to reach first. The boys around the press coop agreed that Kurowski should have either tried for Rolfe at the plate or have completed a double play by getting DiMaggio at first.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Here it is the first day of October . . . how time does fly . . . just thirty-one days and it will be Hallowe'en. But before that comes along we all have a very important job to do. Starting on the 10th your scrap will be accepted for the Fall Scrap Drive . . . particulars concerning the collection will be presented a little later . . . right now we want you all to think about what you can offer for the Scrap Iron Drive . . . several Churches in the city are offering the iron fences around their property . . . business houses are going through their places with a fine tooth comb . . . old heaters, iron machines of all sorts are turning up. We here have a couple of pieces of machinery that will go into the next scrap pile. We have cleaned out before but this time we are really digging around . . . Each and every person in the county should do their utmost to make this scrap drive a success . . . If the county of Lawrence turns in the average of 100 pounds per person we will be recognized with a nice pennant . . . that will be flown over the court house. But every one must do their part. City dwellers, business men and farmers . . . let's show the rest of the state that Lawrence is ahead of them all.

The letters and talk from the boys in camps all go in one direction . . . We are here to do a job, for goodness sakes won't you people at home do your job. Our jobs here are just as important to bringing Victory as the boys' jobs are. That is the way the letters have read that reached this desk . . . and letters have come from all sections of the land. War work here consists of various jobs . . . selling bonds and stamps . . . collecting scrap . . . keeping the factories going with material and labor. Yes, those back home have a definite job . . . and the people are showing the boys that they are behind them . . . and we will always be helping . . . how about it folks?

Those who didn't see the Bronze Plaque that was presented to the Marine Corps League for the Men In Active Service . . . Monday nite . . . may see it now in Mather's Window on East Washington Street . . . a picture of the presentation is also there . . . so you might look in next time you are in town.

Stock Market Prices In Rally

Advance Is From Fractions To More Than Point In Some Stocks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The stock market rallied fractions to more than a point today, after its reaction of the two preceding sessions.

All sections participated, with rails, airline shares and various industrial groups leading the upswing. Trading picked up on the rally, first-hour sales totaling 115,950 shares vs. 93,030 shares in the same period yesterday.

Atlantic Coast Line led its group with a spurt of about 2 points to a new 1942 peak above 32. N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania all showed substantial improvement.

Air transport issues continued prominent. American Airlines ran up better than a point, while United Airlines again reached a new high for the year.

Chrysler stood out in the motors with a climb of more than a point.

Steels, aircraft manufacturing shares, electrical equipments, rubbers and chemicals generally were fractions above last night's final quotations.

Ellwood Preparing For Butler High

Fifth Game Of Season To Be Played At Lincoln Field Friday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 1.—With six hard games ahead of them before the end of the season, Coach Thurman F. Croft has lost no time this week in polishing up the Ellwood High gridsters for an attempt to get back into the winning column, after the defeated administered last week by Rochester High.

Tomorrow night at Lincoln field Ellwood will tackle Butler high under the lights. So far Butler has been badly defeated by New Castle and Aliquippa high schools and won over Mars high.

Butler put Ellwood out of the W. P. I. A. L. race last year when the two teams played to a scoreless tie in a storm of cloudburst proportion. The Heinzer coached crew is led this year by their fullback, Ianotti. They have only three other varsity players, Madden and Hilliard, guards, and DeFoggi, left halfback.

Coach Croft plans a change in the lineup for tomorrow night. Wallace will be back at left tackle. John Cartwright has been changed from quarterback to right half, with Smiley taking the signal calling berth. Glogowski is changed to left half from right half, the place held by Smiley. Conti will remain at fullback.

Jack McClintick is still nursing a leg injury received in the Farrell game and will not be able to play until next week's game. Conti has a stoved thumb received last week, and Glogowski has not done any running this week in an effort to get a leg injury in shape for starting tomorrow night.
